CITY REPUBLICAN TICKET.

ELECTION, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 10.
FOR MAYOR:
JOHN W. RIDDELL.
FOR CITY TREASURER:
WILLIAM C. McCARTHY.
FOR CONTROLLER:
JOHN McCARGO.
FOR CITY ATTORNEY:
JACOB F. SLAGLE.

THE COMING ELECTION.

On Tuesday next the citizens of Consolidated Pittsburgh will be called on to choose municipal officers to serve during the first nine months of the coming year. There are but two sets of candidates in the field for the principal offices of Mayor, Treasurer, Controller and City Attorney. The ticket which heads this column was put forward by the regularly constituted nominating convention of the Republican party. It embraces gentlemen who are well known in the community and whose fitness for the respective positions for which nominated has never been brought into question. Mr. Riddell, is a lawyer of acknowledged ability, and will make an excellent Mayor; Mr. McCarthy's intelligence and strict honesty render him worthy the choice of his fellow-citizens for the responsible office of Treasurer; Mr. McCargo as Controller, and Mr. Slagle as City Attorney, have both given ample evidence of their peculiar fitness and qualifications for those offices. There is no good reason why all of these candidates should not receive every Republican vote cast, and we are hopeful that they will. Their election seems demanded by the exigency of the times, as it would approach a political calamity should the "revolution in politics" extend to a city so notoriously Republican as Pittsburgh. Let every member of the party calmly weigh the importance of the election, and vote with a full knowledge of the effect following a Democratic triumph in Allegheny county.

The Democracy have made no regular nomination, but many of that party will perhaps vote what is popularly termed the Labor Reform ticket, but how its candidates represent the laboring interest is a mystery. Dissatisfaction has crept into the rank and file of our old opponents, and many of the more sensible of them will either vote the straight Republican ticket or remain away from the polls, rather than cast their ballots for a mongrel ticket, such as offered for their support. They cannot relish the idea of exalting to office one who has ever been identified with the Abolition party, and bitterly opposed to their principles, and who deserted his friends because they refused to elevate him, and in pay for his renegadism has been thrust upon them as a candidate. Mr. Blackmore will receive a full share of democratic votes, but he cannot develop any considerable strength with Republicans. Indeed, it is a matter of doubt as to whether he will poll the proportionate vote given heretofore by his party.

The opposition ticket is weak, but the leaders are good and effective workers. They will not permit a single vote to be lost if energy and perseverance can bring it out, and Republicans must be up and at them, or through apathy, the victory in store may be lost to them. The districts should be canvassed and every Republican voter made aware of the importance of the forthcoming struggle for party supremacy in the government of the city.

THE MIDLAND RAILROAD.

Some years ago a railroad was projected to run from the city of New York to the town of Oswego, on Lake Ontario, on a route nearly midway between the New York Central and the Erie Railway. After some delay, and under different charters, work was commenced on this line. Recently a scheme was broached for consolidating the various companies, and securing, at an early day, the completion of a double track road; and it now looks as if the enterprise would be consummated. The eastern terminus will be on the Hudson, opposite New York, and immediately north of the yard and dock of the Erie Railway. When this road shall reach the valley of the North Branch of the Susquehanna, it will be intersected by a railroad running out of Luzerne county, following up the Lackawanna creek to the summit or divide, and thence down the Starucca. This last enterprise is in strong hands; and will certainly throw upon the Midland Road, as it is called, a coal traffic of immense amount, and sufficient in itself to make both projects remunerative.

But this route has another advantage. By actual measurement the distance, this way, between Cleveland or Chicago and New York is seventy-five miles less than by either the New York Central or the Erie Railway; indeed, is no longer than by way of the Lebanon Valley or the Pennsylvania Railroad by Philadelphia.

The counties which it is thus proposed to traverse are rich in agricultural resources, having been long populated, and will derive incalculable advantages from direct and speedy communication with other parts.

We regret to announce the serious illness of our esteemed fellow-citizen, Robert W. Mackey, Esq., Cashier of the Allegheny National Bank. No gentleman in this community has more warm and sincere friends, as he has devoted his whole life to the advancement of those in whose welfare he by chance became interested. We sincerely trust that he may recover from his present illness and be permitted to enjoy many more years of his life of usefulness.

THE St. Louis Republican presents this feature in the operations of railroad extensions:

"We perceive that iron for this road is arriving from Pittsburgh, via Chicago, and is transferred to the cars of the Iron Mountain Road, and goes forward to the work on the extension near the Iron Mountain. At the same time we see that iron ore by the car load is being transferred from the Iron Mountain road and goes forward to the Brazil works in Indiana, owned and worked by Cleveland capitalists."

A German baker has discovered a new dough or paste, which, while retaining its delicate taste, is capable of being rolled out to the thinness of paper. On this he prints, in chocolate, the programmes of the various theatres in the town. An audience supplied with these bills can pass the weary intermissions in eating them, thus adding an additional pleasure to those already enjoyed by theatre goers.

Probably one of the most prevalent and least noticed diseases is catarrh, which, if unattended to, results in consumption. The following is recommended as a sure cure: One part finely pulverized saltpetre mixed with two parts of white sugar reduced to a flour. It must be snuffed up the nose a dozen or more times a day, according to the severity of the attack.

FORTIETH CONGRESS.

Financial Matters in the Senate.

Impeachment in the House.

Boutwell Concludes His Speech.

Reply of Mr. Wilson.

Motion to Lay on the Table.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6, 1867.

SENATE.

Several petititions were presented and referred.

Mr. CORBETT introduced a bill to amend the act making appropriations in Government service for the year ending June, 1867. The bill is similar to one recently introduced by Mr. Williams. Referred to Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. HARLAN introduced a bill to supply the deficiencies incurred in the survey of the Indian reservation. Referred to Committee on Appropriations.

On motion of Mr. EDMUNDS, it was

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury be requested to inform the Senate whether, since the 23d of June, 1860, any unexpended balance of appropriations for objects named in the laws making such appropriations have been used to supply any deficiency of any other item in the same department or office, or have been transferred to any other account or used for any other purpose, and if so by what authority.

Mr. GRIMES introduced a bill providing that from and after the thirtieth of June next there shall be annually set aside from the surplus interest of the naval pension fund the sum of fifteen thousand dollars, for the purpose of forming a nucleus of a naval insurance fund, which shall be increased by a yearly charge upon the pay of each officer of the navy entitled to the benefit of such fund, except midshipmen and third assistant engineers, at the following rate: Commodores $90, Captains $80, Commanders $70, Assistant Commanders $60, Lieutenants $50, Masters $40, Ensigns $30, Boatswaines, Gunners, Carpenters and Sailmakers, $20, and all other officers of the staff and marine corps, according to relative or assimilated rank in the foregoing line of officers. Referred to Naval Committee.

Mr. THAYER called up his resolution, heretofore offered, and amended it to read as follows:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury be directed to inform the Senate if Edmund Cooper assumed the duties of the office of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury on the 30th of November, and if so, under what law and by what authority, if any, he was allowed to do so, or whether he has been appointed Assistant Secretary of the Treasury either before or since the present session of Congress commenced, or whether he has performed the duties of Assistant Sec. of the Treasury or as Acting Assistant Secretary of the Treasury; also the nature of the commission given to said Cooper, and the time it is to run.

The resolution was adopted.

Mr. CORBETT introduced the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Committee on Finance be instructed to inquire into the expediency of reporting a bill to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States to contract a loan, and issue bonds of the United States for the same, redeemable at the pleasure of the Government after —— years, and payable in forty years, bearing interest payable in gold, and place the same upon market for the purpose of redeeming United States bonds, commonly called five-twenties, as they mature.

Mr. CORBETT said the intention was to show holders of five-twenties that the Government would redeem its faith when pledged. As it had not been pledged heretofore in regard to the five-twenties, and as it would be impossible to redeem them in coin, this bill provided for a long loan to take their place, redeemable in gold and with a low rate of interest. The resolution was adopted.

Mr. DRAKE'S resolution censuring the President's Message was postponed until Tuesday next.

Mr. CATTELL introduced a joint resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Finance, to suspend the operation of so much of the act of April 12th, 1866, as provides that the Secretary of the Treasury may retire and cancel United States notes to the amount of four millions per month.

On motion of Mr. SHERMAN, the Senate took up Mr. Edmunds' bill pledging the faith of the United States to pay the public debt of the United States in coin.

Mr. HENDRICKS offered a substitute providing that,

WHEREAS, The public debt of the United States, except where otherwise provided by law, was incurred on the faith and credit of the United States, and the same would be redeemable in lawful money of the United States, which was declared by Congress to be legal tender for debts public and private, except duties on imports and interest on public debt;

And Whereas, It is not good policy that Congress should pledge the nation to incur more burdens than the law requires, therefore,

Resolved, That the public debt of the United States, except where the law provides for its payment in coin, shall be redeemed in lawful money of the United States, and the faith of the United States stands pledged accordingly.

Mr. HENDRICKS hoped the proposition would go to the Committee on Finance.

On motion of Mr. SHERMAN, it was so referred.

Mr. SHERMAN introduced a resolution, which was adopted, calling upon the Secretary of State for copies of the correspondence between the United States and French government in regard to the International Monetary Conference, held at Paris in June and July last; also, copies of instructions to or reports from delegates from this country thereto.

The Senate provided for adjournment until Monday, and, after a short executive session, adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The SPEAKER presented a memorial from the Chamber of Commerce of New York, relative to bonded goods; also, of the Constitutional Convention of Louisiana for the repeal of the cotton tax.

IMPEACHMENT QUESTION.

The SPEAKER stated the regular business in order was the proposed impeachment of the President of the United States, on which the gentleman from Massachusetts was entitled to the floor.

Mr. SCHENCK appealed to Mr. Boutwell to give way, that the House might vote on the bill offered by him yesterday from the Committee on Ways and Means, repealing the act which gives authority to the Secretary of the Treasury to contract the currency.

Mr. BOUTWELL declined, as it would lead to a long debate. He, however, consented to yield the floor to Mr. Hooper, of Massachusetts, who proposed to offer a resolution declaring that in the opinion of the House the amount of revenue annually collected by taxation shall not exceed $300,000,000, and instructing the Committee of Ways and Means to report a bill so modifying the internal taxation as to reduce the revenue from internal taxes to $300,000,000, and instructing the Committee on Appropriations not to exceed that amount, including interest on public debt, in appropriations reported to the House.

Mr. SPALDING wished to discuss, and therefore should object.

The resolution was not received and the House resumed the consideration of the subject of impeachment. Mr. BOUTWELL finished his speech commenced yesterday.

Mr. WILSON, of Iowa, Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, obtained the floor, and proceeded to address the House against the impeachment resolution. He said the gentleman from Massachusetts had made out a much better case than the record made out, but he presumed it was fair for him to conclude the judgment of the House would be passed on the record and that was all he desired. The gentleman had consumed his time in a persistent attack on one feature of the minority report, which, so far as the proceeding was concerned, might be stricken from the record without affecting the case in the remotest degree. No member of the minority of the committee regarded the doctrine that only crimes and misdemeanors indicated under the statutes of the United States would justify impeachment as of the slightest importance, so far as the correct determination of this question was concerned. The minority affirmed their doctrine was correct, although it was introduced into their report rather as a suggestion than as law. It was immaterial what opinions members might have on it. He would let it rest on the argument contained in the minority report, and wait for some person to answer it when a case should arise in which it might be important. Nevertheless he challenged the gentleman from Massachusetts to give to the House a single case wherein the English House of Lords had crossed the path of the report of the minority in this case. The position which the minority occupied was that no civil officer of the United States could be lawfully impeached except for a crime or misdemeanor known to the law, and he would give the gentleman from Massachusetts the privilege of bringing in the common law, statute law and parliamentary law. Mr. Wilson here reminded the gentleman from Massachusetts that he (Mr. Boutwell) had signed a report of the Reconstruction Committee, asserting that in some matters on which he now claimed the impeachment of the President he had not been actuated by wrong motives. He (Mr. Wilson) was not here to defend the President. He must be a bold man who would do that. For himself, he had not sufficient boldness, even if he had the inclination; but he was not prepared to say a Committee so able and so pertinacious as the Committee on Reconstruction was wrong when it declared that the President had been actuated by no improper motives in the very acts for which the House was now asked to impeach him. As to the surrender of property to Southern railroad companies, he (Mr. Wilson) would dispose of all argument on the point by showing that it was not done by the President, but by Secretary Stanton, and from motives of great public policy to open channels of trade and commerce. Referring to the intention of Mr. Boutwell that soldiers would be used to prevent blacks from voting in the South, Mr. Wilson remarked that the House was asked to impeach the President of high crimes and misdemeanors, because it was feared he might do something wrong. He thought, however, the House would determine whether the President had already committed crimes and misdemeanors, not whether he might possibly do so at some time in the future. The case should be tried on the record, and on that he was willing to take a vote of the House. In conclusion, he said: I believe the country desires to have the case disposed of now. They desire to have it out of the way, either by sending articles of impeachment to the Senate at once or laying the whole subject on the table. I believe that the people of the country desire that we shall have done with this subject, in order that we may give our undivided attention to other matters, and therefore, having thus gone hastily, briefly and imperfectly over the long argument of the gentleman from Massachusetts, and depending on the strength of the case as presented in the minority report, or rather depending on the weakness of the case as found in the records. I move the subject be laid on the table.

Without taking a vote on the motion the House adjourned till to-morrow.

BROWNSVILLE, Dec. 6.—River about five feet and still rising. Light rain all day.

—Three thousand sparrows are now busily engaged in preparing their winter quarters in five of our parks and three of our churchyards. A correspondent, who observes the habits of these little creatures, writes: "It is very interesting to see them carrying into their houses the cotton which their kind friends have provided for them. Their concert season at Union Square is quite over. Their pluck was well-tested recently when a large parrot alighted near their roost. At first they seemed to take him for a hawk, and were shy, but soon three hundred of them 'pitched into him' with a loud clatter, and poor polly was glad to retreat to the top of a pole at Fifteenth street and Fourth avenue, and there rested, more frightened than hurt. The sparrows should be fed daily with fine cracked corn, crumbs, etc., until May, or they will scatter over the city and fall a prey to their mortal enemies, the cats and hawks, which are daily seeking them. The hen-hawks have been seen at Washington square within one week. One hundred more houses are needed there at once for the sparrows. Who will furnish them?"—N. Y. Evening Post.

—The Nashville Press and Times says:—"We learn that a spirited skirmish took place at Smyrna on Saturday last, between a white man named Lowry, assisted by half a dozen associates, and a colored man named Carter. It seems that a son of Lowry went into Carter's house, and began to amuse himself by playing with a gun which was standing in the room. Carter, fearing that he might discharge the gun, tried to make him desist, when the boy drew a knife and threatened bloody work. Carter then put him out of the house. Soon after, Lowry, the father of the boy, appeared, with a number of others, and attacked Carter, firing upon him with a pistol. Carter returned the fire, and in return drew a full volley from his assailants. A rapid fire was kept up for some time, but strange to say no one was hurt. The affair created a great commotion, and for a time the excitement was at fever heat.

—Thackeray was an accomplished penman, and used to pride himself on the neatness and dexterity with which he could cram the greatest possible number of words into the smallest possible space. A few week before his death he was present at the usual Saturday dinner, at which the contributors to Punch are accustomed to meet and arrange the programme for the next week's number. The conversation turning on Mr. Thackeray's skill in this way, he was challenged to give an illustration, whereupon he produced a four-penny piece, and having marked the circle of the coin on a piece of paper, he drew in the center a crown, and filled up the remaining space with the Lord's prayer, which he transcribed without a single contraction, except at the word "which," spelling it "wh." Singular to relate, too, the pen used was an ordinary goosequill which happened to be in the room.

—Jinks and an acquaintance were on the beach one day, and heard the screaming and giggling of some young ladies who were preparing to bathe in the surf. Jinks' friend asked what occasioned so much noise in the bath-house. "Oh," replied Jinks, "it is only some belles pealing."

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Apology to Subscribers.

Yesterday just as we were about putting our city edition to press, the steam engine gave way and refused to perform its all important share of work. In consequence we were obliged to work off on the single cylinder press of the Chronicle, their magnificent two cylinder press having a bed too small for our large size, and the result was that the last of our carriers did not get out till about ten o'clock in the morning. We apologize to our readers, although accidents will happen in the best regulated press rooms, and trust they may have no just cause to complain in the future of late papers. We tender our hearty thanks to Messrs. Siebenick & Collins of the Chronicle for the use of their press and printing materials.

Recovery of Stolen Goods—Thieves Detected and Arrested.

Notwithstanding the recent arrest of parties under circumstances which left no doubt that they were connected with the robberies that were being committed almost nightly from the cars of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, the thieving was not stopped, but kept up almost as regular as before. It was evident that the robberies were committed by employees of the Company, and it was at length observed that the thefts usually occurred on the nights when Henry Hess and Morris Kestner, two repairers, who worked at the car shops every other night, were on duty. At the same time the neighbors of these men observed that they each brought home a great variety of new articles, and that they sported frequent suits of new clothes, and always had new suits alike. Close watch was kept upon them, and last night patience was rewarded. Detective Hackett and Officers Bell, Davis and Pender watched the suspected men very closely, and early in the evening saw them enter a freight car, open a box of wine, and remove four bottles to a safe hiding place. The men then went about their work as usual, and when their time was up, went, without visiting their hidden wine, up street to the skating park. There they extinguished their lanterns and went by the railroad track back to their starting place, took their wine and went home.

Yesterday morning Detective A. M. Hackett made information before Alderman Taylor, charging Kestner and Hess with larceny. Search warrants were issued, and officers Bell and Pender proceeded with one to Hess' residence at Stewartstown, where they discovered a large quantity of stolen goods, consisting of boots, shoes, clothing, tobacco, cigars, hardware, etc. Officers Hackett and Davis went with the other warrant to Kestner's residence, on Allen street, Lawrenceville. They returned shortly afterwards with Kestner and a wagon load of stolen goods, which they had found hidden in his house. Among the findings were carpenter and railroad tools, a quantity of new hardware, a large variety of ready-made clothing for men, calico and cotton cloth in the web, boots and shoes, a large number of new white handkerchiefs, men's undershirts and drawers in large numbers, a fur cap, a quantity of knit goods, boxes of cigars, a quantity of fancy soap, several papers of tacks, ladies' velvet hats, mens' felt hats, and other articles of various descriptions. Mr. D. M. Watt, on behalf of the company, made three separate informations before Alderman Taylor, charging Kestner with larceny, and one against Kestner and Hess for a like offense.

They were arrested, and in default of bail committed for a hearing on Wednesday, the 11th inst.

Meeting of the Republican Executive Committee of Allegheny City.

Thursday evening a meeting of the Republican Executive Committee of Allegheny city was held at City Hall, in Allegheny, for the purpose of making arrangements for the coming elections. John McDonald, Esq., of the Second ward, was called to the chair, and J. C. Patterson, Esq., of the Fourth ward, appointed Secretary.

After the chairman had stated the object of the meeting, Mr. John Megraw moved that the primary elections be held on the last Saturday in December, (28th inst.), between the hours of three and seven o'clock, P. M., the voting to be by ballot. Adopted.

On motion of Prof. L. H. Eaton, the Judges of Elections were instructed not to receive ballots from persons who had not voted the Republican ticket last fall, and that the name of every person voting be recorded.

Mr. Megraw moved that one member of the Executive Committe from each election precinct be appointed to meet with the Return Judges on Monday evening, December 30th, and receive the vote. The motion was adopted, and the following persons appointed the said committee: First ward, Thos. Scandrett, Second ward. John M'Donald; Third ward, first precinct, John Holmes, second precinct, Captain Casper Gang; Fourth ward, first precinct, John Megraw, second precinct, H. W. Aufderhide; Fifth ward, J. Heath; Sixth ward, J. Cunningham; Seventh ward, G. Wettach.

On motion of Mr. Megraw, the Election Boards were instructed not to count the votes for any candidate for Mayor who had not previously signified his willingness to abide by the result.

The Committee then adjourned to meet at the call of the Chairman.

City Mortality.

A. G. McCandless, Physician of the Board of Health, reports the following interments in the city from Nov. 24th to December 1st, 1867:

Disease of heart 1, dropsy 1, typhoid fever 1, uterine hemorrhage 1, scarlet fever 1, still born 1, disease of bowels 2, hydrocephalus 1, pneumonia 1.

Males ....6 { White.... 10 } Total....10
Females..4 { Colored.. 0 }

Of the above there were: Under one year 3; from one to two 1; two five 1; five to ten 1; ten to fifteen 1; twenty to thirty 2; thirty to forty 1; sixty to seventy 1.

Drugs, Medicines, Wines.

We looked in, yesterday, on our friend, James T. Sample, corner of Federal and Robinson streets, Allegheny, and found him busy in opening and arranging a fine stock of new goods in his line, including, of course, every staple article in a first class Drug and Apothecary Store, together with a variety of Fancy Goods, and an invoice of California Wines and Brandies, very choice and pure. Mr. Sample proposes to continue those importations, so that his customers may rely on finding at all times those wines so celebrated for purity and flavor, for which California has become so famous in both hemispheres.

Grand Pontifical Mass.

On to-morrow (feast of immaculate conception and anniversary of consecration of Rt. Rev. Bishop Domenec) there will be solemn Pontifical High Mass at St. Paul's Cathedral. Some of the grandest church music may be looked for on the occasion from the excellent choir under the efficient and zealous direction of Prof. Schennit.

"Haydn's third mass" will be produced, and at the offertory will be a tenor solo by Mr. Cargo, accompanied on the cornet by Mr. F. Weis, leader of the Great Western band. A rare treat may be anticipated by all lovers of sacred music.

Pictorial Sermons.—Rev. E. M. Long, of Philadelphia, will begin a series of sermons in the First Methodist Church, Fifth street, on Monday evening next, to be continued during the week. His discourses will be illustrated by large and beautiful oil paintings. He has just closed a series of successful meetings in the Presbyterian churches in Cincinnati, leaving a deep revival interest among the people. The Second and Third Methodist Churches are invited to meet and worship with the Fifth Street Church in these interesting exercises. Further particulars next week by advertisement.

Counterfeiter Committed.—Jos. Harris, who was arrested some time since, at Williamsport, Pa., charged with selling counterfeit United States currency, had a hearing before Commissioner McCandless, yesterday, and was committed in default of $1,000 bail for his appearance at the next term of the U. S. District Court in this city.

Postponement.—The First Universalist Church Association have kindly yielded to the Homoeopathic Hospital Association the use of City Hall for three days of next week, and the opening of the Universalist Fair, advertised for Monday next, will accordingly be deferred until Thursday, the 12th inst.

Committed for Larceny.—John Shankner, yesterday, made information before Justice Salisbury, charging Charles Asenbaes with larceny. The defendant was arrested and committed for trial.

The Extensive New Malt House of Joshua Rhodes & Co.

There has just been put in successful operation in our sister city one of the largest and most complete malt houses in this country. The building was originally erected for distilling purposes and was built in the most substantial manner, but the projectors of that enterprise failing, it passed into the hands of Joshua Rhodes & Co., who thoroughly remodeled and made it one of the best arranged and most admirably adapted malt houses we have ever examined. It is located on the bank of the Ohio river, a few feet from Robinson street and near the Allegheny Gas works. It is one hundred and thirty feet deep by one hundred feet wide, is five stories high and built of brick. The first, third, fourth and fifth floors are used for growing purposes and are arranged in the most scientific manner. Each is provided with a cemented floor, laid by Mr. George Bassett, which is as smooth and solid as marble, and if anything much harder than that material. Double rows of steam pipes to protect the growing grain from the effects of frost are laid along the walls on all sides of the room, and other improvements of a substantial character are introduced. Adjoining the growing room of the first floor are the furnaces for supplying the numerous kilns throughout the establishment with the necessary heat. These are scientifically constructed, and are deemed, in many particulars, far superior to those used in the malt houses throughout the country. The kilns are conveniently situated on each floor, and are large and capacious. By machinery the grain is hoisted from the growing floors of any of the rooms, and placed in whatever kiln it may be desired to have it. The kilns, eight in number, are floored with perforated iron tiles, a patent not yet generally introduced but one of great merit. On the second floor we find eleven large bins for the depositing barley preparatory to being malted. Elevators, with steam power, are conveniently located so as to render the handling and distribution of grain an easy matter. The barley is all hoisted to the roof from whence it is disseminated into the four huge steeping tubs located in different parts of the building. These tubs, which are each supplied with an ordinary fire plug, are of white cedar wood and were manufactured in Philadelphia, costing nearly one thousand dollars apiece. They are oval in shape and are of such large proportions as to receive for steeping eight hundred bushels of barley. We have merely attempted to give our readers some faint idea of the extensive character of this great malt house, which has a capacity of malting three hundred thousand bushels per year. The firm owning and operating the establishment are all well known business gentlemen and have had ample experience in the trade. Their office is located at No. 382 Penn street, where all orders should be addressed.

T. T. Ewens Practical Plumber, Gas and Steam Fitter, No. 165 Wood Street.

Mr. T. T. Ewens, one of our practical and finished mechanics, has won a large share of public patronage by carefully performing all work entrusted to him in such a manner as to give the highest satisfaction. His stock of materials cannot be surpassed in quality by that found in any similar house in Western Pennsylvania. Possessing unusual facilities for the purchase of goods, he is enabled to successfully compete with eastern dealers in prices, and can offer rare good bargains to the customers who favor him with patronage. Yesterday we had the pleasure of examining the fine assortment of articles peculiar to the business found there. The selection of chandeliers of the latest and most fashionable and varied styles is very fine and will compare favorably with any we have ever noticed. Shades, brackets, pendants, &c., &c., all in modern patterns, and of improved character, will be found on hand at reasonable prices. The stock of iron and wood pumps is also very large and of just such a character as the country dealer or patron can select from. All the latest patents are introduced, and as Mr. Ewens makes this department a specialty, we commend his house to the patronage of our readers. A large assortment of bath-tubs, water-closets, sinks, basins, washstands, gum hose, marble wares, hydrants, &c., will also be found. The beer and ale pumps adopted by the trade of this house are of a very superior character, and will commend themselves to tavern, saloon, hotel and restaurant keepers, while the brass cocks are worthy special attention. Houses are fitted up with gas and water at the shortest notice. All work and repairing will be faithfully and promptly attended to. Orders from the country by mail are solicited, and experienced workmen will be dispatched on most reasonable terms to any point desired, either to put in new work or repair old.

The Gettysburg Asylum Gift Enterprise.

We do not know what object can appeal more earnestly to patriotic citizens than the care of invalid soldiers—those who went forth in obedience to their country's call to fight her battles, and who, either wounded or diseased in the hardships of a bitter campaign, are left helpless and homeless. As the terrible war recedes slowly from the minds of the masses, it is to be hoped that these living evidences of its dread havoc will not be permitted to suffer through want and neglect. The Pennsylvania Legislature, with the same commendable patriotism which characterized its actions during the war, have not been indifferent to the silent appeal of the soldiers who now roam about our State in wretchedness and poverty, added the weight of its official charter to a scheme originated by a philanthropic association to erect an asylum on the battle field of Gettysburg for wounded and disabled soldiers. To raise funds for this purpose and to give all an opportunity to become contributors to the laudable enterprise, thus giving it a national character, the Association will hold two grand gift concerts for which one and one-fifth million tickets, at one dollar each will be sold. These tickets entitles the holder to participation in 122,104 gifts, ranging in value from $100,000 down to a single dollar. Mr. E. R. Gardner, a gentleman in whom we have unlimited confidence, after carefully examining into the character of the enterprise, has accepted the agency for this city, and has established his office for the sale of tickets at No. 53 Fifth street, where all necessary information may be obtained.

A Present for Christmas.

When a person possesses the article that has taken the front seat, or that is universally acknowledged to be the champion over all others, there is ground for satisfaction.

The new Weed Sewing Machine defies all competition. It is so simple that any one can learn to run it; and satisfaction is guaranteed. It has been sent to the same house where others had been previously sent; they were sent back and the new Weed kept. Call and see it at R. H. Long's, No. 112 Grant street.

Coroner's Inquest.—Coroner Clawson held an inquest on the body of Obadiah Maloney, an old colored man, who died suddenly between five and six o'clock yesterday morning. The jury rendered a verdict of "death from natural causes." The reason for holding the inquest was on account of the rather suspicious reputation of the house he occupied, which is generally known as "Fort Malony," and is situated at the head of Webster street.

Fine Burnet Ales and choice Porters constantly on hand at the old established Oregon Brewery of Pier, Dannals & Co., Stevenson street, Eighth Ward. These ales and porters are certainly equal to the finest imported articles. Wholesale and retail orders are respectfully solicited. Packages delivered to all points of the city and immediate neighborhood, free of charge.

The best fresh XX Ales can be purchased at the lowest market prices at the old established Oregon Brewery of Pier, Dannals & Co., Stevenson street, Eighth Ward. Orders by mail will receive prompt attention, and packages in new and neat barrels and half barrels will be delivered to any place in the neighborhood of the city or shipped carefully.

The universal verdict is in favor of the premium ales brewed at the justly popular and extensive Oregon Brewery, Stevenson street, Eighth ward. Nearly the entire medical fraternity commend these ales and porters as eminently good and healthy beverages. Orders by mail will be promptly attended, and shipments carefully attended.

Now is the Time to Prepare Your Presents.—In slippers, pin cushions, infant bibbs, and tidies; also, gown and shemise yokes, and pillow cases stamped from the French patterns; braid silk and embroideries; also, stamps for sale, at the renowned Weed Sewing Machine office, 112 Grant street. dec6:3t

Highway Robbery.

One of the boldest exploits we have heard of for some time past was a highway robbery committed by a pair of villains who hang around the Union Depot, under the guise of hackmen or baggage wagon drivers. An old gentleman arrived at the Depot from the east on a morning train en route for Cleveland, to see his son, who is dangerously ill. Immediately upon his arrival he inquired at the ticket office when the Cleveland train would start, and was informed that it would not leave until three o'clock. One of the "sharks" above referred to heard the inquiry, and noticed the old gentleman's anxiety in the matter. He watched his opportunity and as soon as as the old man left the window he followed him, and told him that by going to Allegheny he could leave at twelve o'clock, as there was a train started from there at that time. Being anxious to see his sick son, and knowing nothing about the city, the stranger at once agreed to go, and was conducted to a wagon belonging to an accomplice of the "shark" who had first accosted him, into which the three of them got and started for Allegheny by the way of the Hand street bridge. When reaching the middle of the bridge the driver stopped his team and demanded six dollars of the passenger. He offered them two, but they insisted upon the payment of six, and taking possession of the old man's carpet sack, put him out of the wagon, and was about to drive off, when he agreed to pay them three dollars for the sack, which they took, leaving him on the bridge. He came back to the depot and made known the facts, but the scamps who had victimized him were non est. The officers know them and are only waiting for a favorable opportunity to nab them.

Thief Arrested.

On the 29th of September Mr. Frederick Schild, and his wife, visited a friend near Perrysville, and took with them a basket containing $1200 in bank notes, which was carelessly left in the buggy while they were in the house with the friend. An examination of the basket upon their return home convinced them of their carelessness, as it had been overhauled and the money taken. Mr. Sheild at once returned to the place at which they had been visiting, and the only clue obtained was the mysterious disappearance of Philip Swagler, a German, employed by the friend above referred to. An information was made against him the next morning and officer Dressler went to New York in search of him, but failed to find him. About a week since it was ascertained that he was in the vicinity of the city, and Thursday night officers Dressler, Rivers and Cupples, having received definite information as to his whereabouts, procured a horse and buggy and went for him. They found him at a house about nine miles from the city on the Butler plank road, arrested him and brought him to the city and put him in the lock-up, where he will remain until this afternoon, when he will have a hearing. The prisoner is quite reticent, but does not deny the charge made against him.

Lawrenceville Citizens' Ticket.

The citizens of the Second ward, Lawrenceville, held a primary meeting at the School House yesterday evening, for the nomination of candidates for Ward offices. There being two Citizens tickets in the field, the contest was very exciting and bitter. Below we give the result:

The Burning Ship.

The great musical tableaux of the "Burning Ship" will be rendered with powerful effect at the Academy of Music on Monday evening next, under the direction of Prof. Manning and G. M. Alexander, Esq. This arrangement has been made in order to accommodate Ristori with the hall on the night the Tableaux were to have taken place. The musical public need no reminder of the high character of this beautiful composition, which is not only charming but thrilling and effective. The scenery and mechanical arrangements, together with the entire stage management, will be under the immediate direction of Mr. J. C. Hall, the former popular manager of the Academy Theatre, a sufficient guarantee that those departments will be cleverly managed. Miss Cora Brown, a sweet vocalist, Dr. J. G. McCandless, Mr. McCutcheon, of the Allegheny quintette club, and other equally favorably know vocalists will participate in the programme. Secured seats will be sold on Monday morning, at nine o'clock, at Kleber's music store, 122 Wood street.

The Golden Age of Peace.

It is well known that during the war everything went up to fabulous prices, and everything, except dry goods, seems to be on the same grand scale. The fall in the prices of men's underwear is wonderful. When you can buy an undershirt or pair of drawers for fifty cents that sold during the war for two dollars, or one good enough for any body at one dollar that sold at four dollars, or a "star shirt" at two dollars that at one time was just double the price, or a good pair of wool socks for twenty-five cents that sold for fifty cents, you may well conclude "peace prices" have been reached; but it is a fact that many goods are being retailed at less than the prices at which they can be produced. If you wish to see it illustrated, call at Cree Brothers, 26 Fifth street, who have the best assortment of gentlemen's furnishing goods in the city, and were the first to mark down to "anti-war prices." Their great sale of embroideries is also well worthy the attention of the ladies, as they have the best and cheapest stock in the city.

Still Continues.

The great sale of trimmings, notions and furnishing goods at the extensive wholesale and retail establishment of Joseph Horne & Co., Nos. 77 and 79 Market street, still continues, and the economical are embracing themselves of the rare opportunities for bargains afforded. New goods are being daily received to keep up the supply, and as they have been bought very cheap, are offered at correspondingly low rates to wholesale and retail patrons. The firm are determined to close out their present stock of goods before the incoming of the next year, so that readers can depend upon the fact that the special prices are made in good faith. Call and see for yourselves.

Third Ward Nominations.

The Democracy of the Third ward held a primary meeting yesterday and made the following nominations:

Select Council—Bernard Rafferty and James Herdman.
Common Council—John J. Torley, and Thomas A. Pender.
Constable—Thomas O'Connor.
Assessor—Peter O'Neil.
School Directors—John Kelley and Jno. O'Neil.
Judge of Election—John Barry.
Inspector—W. C. Rafferty.
Return Inspector—Smith Lawton.

There is no better place to buy books, stationery, periodicals and newspapers than at the largely stocked house of our friend J. D. Egan, Sixth street, near Smithfield. Book fanciers will find a magnificent assortment of choice and rare second hand books, which have long since gone out of print.

Hotels, Restaurants and private families are supplied at the most reasonable prices with the choice Oregon Brewery ales and porters, by the proprietors, Messrs. Pier, Dannals & Co., whose office is on Stevenson street, in the Eighth ward.

Funeral.—The remains of Allen C. Day, whose death we noticed in yesterday's issue, arrived in the city last night, and will be interred to-morrow at one o'clock.

The Grand Jury visited the Homoeopathic Hospital Fair yesterday, and partook of dinner, not as guests, but by way of contributing to the worthy object.

Try the ales and porters of the Oregon Brewery of Pier, Dannals & Co., Stevenson street, Eighth ward, and be convinced of the superiority.

Scientific Lectures.

ALLEGHENY CITY, Dec. 3, 1867.

EDITORS PITTSBURGH GAZETTE:—I was considerably elated by seeing one of your late issues, since it contained sentiments that are valuable to all; I know not who your correspondent may have been, but he deserves great praise for broaching the subject upon the few scientific lectures, that are delivered in this vicinity.

It must be obvious to all that it is strange that a city like Pittsburgh, celebrated over the world for its manufactures, should be so devoid of Literary Societies, or Scientific Clubs, where lectures upon various scientific and mechanical subjects can be treated upon.

It seems to me that when a lecture is announced to be delivered by a crowing pullet, i. e. a strong minded woman or a recreant chanticleer, i. e. a weak minded man, our halls are crowded; but when any thought is given of inviting some talented and scientific man (who may perhaps have given years of study to attain his profession) to give some scientific disertations, the idea is at once squashed, because his lecture would be pronounced dry, uninteresting, by our empty headed ladies and their learned escorts. Let any scientific man pronounce his intention of delivering a lectuse upon the Steam Engine, upon Geology, Astronomy, or any other scientific or mechanical pursuit, what would be his audience? why, perhaps a dozen, this is very consoling to a man, who perhaps has condensed all his lifetime experience and information into a lecture—a lecture by whose aid he does not wish to replenish his exchequer; but to elevate his fellow man, and to endeavor to teach those who have not had the same chance of acquiring knowledge as he has. Messrs. Editors, man is most truly happy when he is endeavoring to help and benefit his fellow creatures. It is the duty of man, in whatever station of life he may be found, to try to help his associates. The act of charity is a great and magnificent work, but charity does not alone consist of giving money; it consists of giving all that lies in one's power. How often we meet a man who may be almost as we might say, penniless, but yet who has a certain knowledge, which he imparts to his fellow beings (very often gratuitously) that man is more to be honored than the millionaire, who gives his subscription to any charity, not for charity's sake, but that it should be known that Mr. so and so did this. On the other hand, let Miss Anna Dickenson come here with the intention of filling our daughters' heads with absurdities of the rights of women; or bloomerism, and the lecture room will be crowded.

I myself am connected with one of the largest establishments in the vicinity, whose employees average five hundred mechanics of various trades. I have endeavored repeatedly to establish a Literary Society in connection with the works, and have also promised a course of free lectures; but of no avail—the whole thing fell through for want of patronage. I know several gentlemen who would willingly lecture upon various scientific subjects, provided some Society were formed, or that some one would guarantee some slight remuneration for their incurred trouble. Most people are aware that it requires not only extensive reading, talent and forethought, combined with practical experience to treat upon scientific subjects, while a lecture upon ordinary subjects can be written by the hour. As a manufacturing city, Pittsburgh does not require to be deafened upon the rights of women, political economy, or any such subjects. Its inhabitants require to be taught such things as may be useful to them. When do we hear of a lecture being given upon steam, its properties or its uses, upon the steam engine, upon iron or steel, its manufacture or its adaptations. I feel perfectly satisfied that if some lecturers (posted upon the subject) had given us an oration upon steam, six months ago, we, the newspaper readers, would not have been startled by the astounding theories brought out in regard to the late fatal boiler explosion.

Our learned and able divines, and also our temperance brethren, are expatiating upon the evils arising from the abuses of strong drink. Let them rave. They never begin to come at the point. It is all very well to say to a young man you must not do this, you must not do that; but, at the same time, not tell him what to do. Our young mechanics, after a laborious day's work, are glad to seek some place where they can receive exhileration of spirit, and as there is no place but the tavern, the theatre, or the low haunts of immorality, have leave to seek these places, and, by constant attendance, help to swell the list of our criminals, to fill our penitentiaries, our gaols, and our hospitals. Pittsburgh wants some place where the young men can spend their evenings, where they can learn something useful to them. Every one knows the dreariness of a boarding house. Now, I ask any of our reformation expatiators (which by the by is a new expression) if they could spend their evenings in a boarding house, if they could find the ease they require after a hard day's work in such places. No, they cannot. Then what must a young man do, when there is no place for social and interesting intercourse. I trust that some one will take the initiative in this matter, for we are sadly behind. Look at Great Britain, with its Workingmen's Colleges, its institutions and charitable societies. Look at France, with the great aid she gives to her operatives in scientific knowledge. Look even at Russia, who is now about to introduce a system of free night schools. And where are we? We, as American citizens, boast largely of the advantages we have of education, but I never have yet met with any one who has traveled to Europe but says slightly different. In all the railroad shops and large manufactories of England there are a series of free night schools, where the employees can learn from the A B C to the highest branches of mathematics, where mechanical drawing and geometry are made a speciality. Look at Chance's Glass Works, near Birmingham, (England,) with its noble institution; look at the success that it has met with; look at the chance or prospect the men have there. If any of the employees pass a certain examination they are sent by the government to Cambridge or Oxford College, and are allowed a certain sum also for expenditure, what is technically called the middle class examination, is what we want here; for amid our great array of mechanics many could be found that would equal any of our great engineers, lawyers or divines providing they had the chance of acquiring knowledge to suit them to the positions.

I do trust that some kind friend will endeavor to promote scientific lectures, and their necessary adjuncts, and I feel assured that many will be found to give whatever assistance they can.

I remain your's, respectfully,
PERCEVAL BECKETT, M. E.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—A very fair audience attended the Opera House last night, on which occasion the charming actress Lady Don took her farewell benefit. The amusing comediette "Woman's Rights" was presented in an admirable manner, for the opening piece, and the entertainment closed with the amusing burlesque of "Aladdin." "Guy Mannering" is on the bills for the matinee this afternoon, with Lady Don in the principal role. This is the last opportunity that will present itself to our citizens to see Lady Don this season, and no one should allow it to pass unimproved.

CITY HALL.—The Homeopathic Fair at City Hall has so far been a decided success in every respect, and doubtless will continue so to the end. The sales have been unusually large, while the proceeds from other sources exceed the expectations of the managers. The youth, beauty and intelligence nightly assembled there renders it an exceedingly pleasant place to spend an evening, and in addition to this it makes one feel comfortable to know that the money contributed there is appropriated to a charitable purpose; that what is thus contributed for amusement and pleasure may be the means of relieving suffering and distress. The balloting on the various articles is steadily increasing, and if we mistake not a handsome sum will be realized from this source. For Mayor the vote last evening stood: Riddell, 804; Blackmore, 600.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The sale of tickets for Ristori's season at the Academy of Music, commences to-day at Mellor's music store, Wood street. She plays Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings of next week, when will be presented "Elizabeth," "Medea" and "Marie Antoinette."

Masonic Hall—Last Night of Macallister.—This evening will be the last of the performances of Professor and Madame Macallister, the great illusionists. The principal present last evening, consisting of a complete silver tea set, was drawn by Mr. F. Rephan, No. 10 Third street. The principal presents this evening will be two splendid silver hunting-case watches and chains in addition to ninety-eight other valuable presents. A farewell gift matinee will be given this afternoon, when every child will receive a handsome present.

Pittsburgh Female College—Concert Last Night—Opening of the Winter Session on Monday.

The Concert last evening of Prof. Blessner at the College Chapel of the Pittsburgh Female College was a decided success in point of attendance and the musical entertainment offered. There was in attendance a large and appreciative audience, and every person seemed highly delighted with the vocal and instrumental performances. Perhaps in our notice of this pleasing occasion it will be pertinent to remark on the success attending the Pittsburgh Female College, which is now justly classed among the most praiseworthy and best managed places for the education of females in the United States. The attendance during the fall term, which is just closing, has been unusually large, and the progress made by the pupils decidedly satisfactory. On Monday next will commence the winter session of the College, and parents or guardians having daughters or wards to educate will do well and wisely by placing them in the College, where a practical, substantial education will be acquired, while they are surrounded by strictly moral influences and examples. The terms of tuition at the College are very reasonable and the accommodations offered the scholars are of the first order. The College buildings are very complete in every department and are located in one of the healthiest as well as most secluded portions of the city. Rev. Dr. Pershing, the zealous and enterprising President, will be pleased to forward circulars of information to all those who contemplate placing their girls under his charge for education.

The Election.—Election officers will avoid much confusion on the opening of the polls by providing for themselves in advance with some twelve or fifteen boxes for the reception of the ballots voted for the various candidates. Our friends in the city, especially those in the outer districts of Pitt, Peebles, Collins, Oakland, Liberty and Lawrenceville, will greatly oblige us by promptly furnishing the returns on Tuesday evening, so that they may be spread before our readers next morning.

REMARKABLE CURE OF CHRONIC CATARRH.

Testified to by Dr. R. B. Brown, of Troy, Jefferson County, Pa.

DR. E. S. ABORN, 134 Smithfield street, Pittsburgh, Pa.—Dear Sir:—Some twelve or fourteen years since I was seized with Catarrh of the Head, which, despite all the efforts of four skilled medical men, continued to grow worse until my throat became seriously affected. The head discharges were a source of constant annoyance and very offensive. My constitution soon began to give way under the fearful ravages of the disease, so that I lost thirty pounds in weight. I had despaired of securing relief until referred to you by Henry Brown, of Jefferson county, whom you had cured of deafness. It is now one year since I commenced your treatment, and I am rejoiced to say that by your skill and treatment I am now quite restored to a healthy state. Since under your treatment I have gained thirty-three pounds, which is three pounds heavier than I have ever weighed before. The serious nature of my condition, and the remarkable changes brought by your treatment, convince me that the most desperate cases need not despair of hope.

R. T. KECK,
Clarion county, Pa.
December 3, 1867.

P. S.—Dr. R. B. Brown, of Troy, Jefferson county, is familiar with the nature of my case, and your successful treatment, and may be referred to relative thereto.

That Consumption Can be Cured is No Longer to be Doubted.

A LADY GAINS EIGHT POUNDS IN SIX WEEKS.

Four years ago I was attacked with a cold, which soon terminated in a bronchial affection, and finally I suffered from asthma in its most severe form. The throat disease continued to grow worse, and descended until my lungs became diseased. I tried various treatments without any good effect, as consumption, which I was told I had, seemed to be unyielding to ordinary treatment. Every day I expected would be my last. In this hopeless condition I applied to Dr. Aborn, of No. 134 Smithfield street, and to the surprise of all who knew my critical condition and the gratification of myself, I began to improve immediately. No one thought I could possibly live a month. It is now six weeks since I placed myself under the treatment of Dr. Aborn, and during that period I have gained eight pounds of solid flesh. Now I can walk up stairs and attend to my chores without fatigue, which I have been unable to do for so long a time. My speedy recovery is due to the peculiar treatment known to Dr. Aborn.

THE GREAT CONTROVERSY.

Yesterday the cable telegraph gave a definite account of the impression produced in Europe by the late message of President JOHNSON to Congress. Even the London Times, which has never exhibited the slightest sympathy with the People or Congress of the United States in their struggle for the maintenance of the Union and the extension of equal rights to all classes of men, is impelled to declare that the tone and bearing of the Executive is as imperial as that of any sovereign in the Old World. Nor is this statement overstrained. At no time, during the last two hundred years, has any monarch in Great Britain dared to hold the language and exhibit the demeanor towards Parliament which the President for two years has steadily manifested towards Congress. Such temper and deportment would have cost any English monarch not only his crown but his head.

It will be seen, moreover, that censure is cast on Mr. STEVENS as well as the President. We are not inclined to defend Mr. STEVENS from this incrimination, or from any other of like character. His ideas and measures have given him a position distinct and apart from that of the great body of the Republicans. Indeed, we cannot recall the name of another Radical Member of Congress, or of one prominent Radical journal, that has gone with him in his peculiar ideas for dealing with the rebel States and their insurgent populations. The mass of the Radicals have constantly inclined to lenity; have demanded few or no expiations; have insisted that military government, for considerable periods, was repugnant to the primary idea of popular institutions, and of dangerous tendency in respect to all classes; have gone far in demanding that with as little delay as practicable Universal Amnesty should be granted. Some of them, as Mr. GREELEY, have been furiously denounced by the Conservatives for refusing to follow Mr. STEVENS at all.

The Radicals have been mainly intent on rectifying old abuses; on restoring natural and inalienable rights to those from whom they have, for a long time, if not always, been withheld; on so shaping the new condition of affairs as to cover all classes with the equal protection of the laws, and to endow them with an equality of rights as well as of responsibilities. This is why Conservatives and Democrats unite in condemning them. But their vindication will come in due season. Passion and prejudice cannot last forever, and when these subside it will be clearly seen that government by the People can only be made to stand by fairly recognizing the absolute political equality of all. The United States tried the other process, and terrible has been its chastisement. Shall the bitter experience through which we have been led enlighten us as to the future?

THE FINANCIAL QUESTION.

The judgment of Congress evidently harmonizes with that of the country in holding the Financial Question to be one of the highest importance, and demanding early, careful and exhaustive consideration. Already several propositions have been submitted, which evince that no ordinary pains-taking has been used during the vacation to comprehend the difficulties of the case, and to find out remedies adapted to remove them. It is a misfortune to the country that comparatively few of the members of either of the Houses are specially fitted by their private studies and employments to deal intelligently with problems of this sort. Many of them are skilled in legal subtleties, and still more in the dialectics of party controversy; while few of them have diligently studied or had large experience in the intricacies of finance and trade. Indeed, a good many bankers and merchants, and some of them reasonably successful in their pursuits, are content to follow the routine in which they were instructed, rather than to be at the trouble of exploring the elementary principles which regulate and determine the operations in which they are involved.

From the action of the Committee of Ways and Means, which we chronicled yesterday, as well as from private accounts, we infer that they who favor a contraction of the paper currency, and a return by that means to specie payments, are in a minority. There are indications that in the House a majority may be found in favor of another era of expansion. But the temper of the Senate does not warrant the expectation that an absolute increase of paper circulation will be sanctioned by that body.

Nor can it be disguised that the feeling in the House is much stronger against the National Banks than it was believed to be before the session opened. The feeling is becoming very general that it is not right to exempt from taxation for any ordinary purpose, so large an amount of capital as is represented in the national securities and banking capital. Doubtless the government, during the war, obtained money with which to prosecute military operations, on the best terms it could, and is morally as well as legally bound to fulfill its engagements. To do otherwise would be shameful and humiliating to the last degree. Still, this consideration, powerful as it is, and conclusive as it ought to be, does not satisfy multitudes. These feel that capitalists took advantage of the necessities of the government to drive hard bargains with it; really got it by the throat, and constrained it to accept such conditions as they were pleased to dictate; and that these conditions are so oppressive upon all who are engaged in productive industries that relief from existing inequality of burdens must be had. Still, it is claimed that no measure so sweeping as the substitution of greenbacks for bank notes can be carried. A new loan, of sufficient volume to take up and cancel all outstanding bonds, and which shall be fully liable to taxation, may possibly be agreed upon as a compromise.

Business classes throughout the country are in a feverish state. Their affairs have not progressed satisfactorily during the past year. In many lines of production the prices of commodities have settled even below the rates that prevailed before the war, while wages are still about as high as at any former period. Provisions are still dear, and will remain so, at least until after another harvest. Here are serious difficulties in the way of agreement between owners and the men they employ. The outlook for the future is dark. Men do not see the way before them, and consequently hesitate. Then there is the general tendency of the currency towards a specie basis, which is about as strong as the disposition of water to run down hill. Governmental measures may impede this tendency; but it still operates, creating uncertainty and distrust. Surrounded by so many difficulties, it is incumbent on Congress to proceed cautiously, reaping the full advantage of the best lights obtainable.

GRANT MOVEMENT IN NEW YORK.

By telegraph our readers have already been made acquainted with the fact that an immense meeting was held at Cooper Institute, in the city of New York, on last Wednesday evening, for the purpose of recommending Gen. GRANT as a candidate for the Presidency. By mail we have full particulars.

The meeting was consequential from the unusual number of men who shared in it. It was more so from the personal character of a large proportion of the men. Hundreds, if not thousands, of the foremost business men of the metropolis, were there, adding the combined weight of their names to the movement. In this array of mercantile and financial celebrities were men of nearly all shades of political opinion. There were Republicans and Democrats, Conservatives and Radicals, Loyalists and Secessionists. Of course it was not a party display, but a demonstration independent of all existing parties, and perhaps intended as antagonistic to all.

The following are the resolutions that were adopted:

Resolved, That the American people have ever been true to the instincts of patriotism in maintaining the rights and honor of the nation; and that the acknowledgment of distinguished services in the national cause, cannot fail to be regarded as a grateful duty by a free and intelligent people.

Resolved, That the brilliant services rendered by General Ulysses S. Grant, at a period of imminent peril to the existence of the American Union, have shed imperishable renown on the American name and character, and can never be forgotten by a people alive to the blessings of institutions under whose influence they have become a free and united nation.

Resolved, That in the judgment of this meeting, representing all the great interests of national industry, the public sentiment of the country unmistakably indicates its choice for the office of Chief Magistrate; and that in accordance therewith, and relying with perfect confidence on the sagacity, judgment, persistent energy, and unfaltering patriotism, so strikingly displayed throughout his whole civil and military career, we present General Ulysses S. Grant as the candidate of the loyal Union people of New York for the office of the President of the United States.

Resolved, That the President of this meeting have authority to appoint twenty-four citizens, who, with himself, shall form a Standing Committee, with power to take measures to effectuate the objects and purposes of this meeting.

Here is not simply a casual or accidental avoidance of all ideas and measures upon which the American people have been divided for years past, but an intentional ignoring of them. General GRANT is put forward not as the representative of a Policy upon which the individuals constituting the meeting were agreed, but as in himself sufficient to silence all questionings and to settle all doubts.

How far this movement, which was clearly designed to be the point of a fresh departure in the politics of the nation, will meet with favor throughout the country, cannot be told immediately. But it is apparent that his testimony before the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives has commended him about equally to that wing of the republicans who are averse to severities and to the more moderate and reasonable of the secessionists. If this demonstration shall be followed up by others of cognate character at various points throughout the country, something formidable may come of it; but we conjecture by far the larger part of our people want to know why they run before they set out.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

The General Synod of the Reformed Dutch Church met at Albany, N. Y., some days since, by adjournment from the annual meeting in June, to receive the report from the Classis on the proposed change of the name. The vote showed that of thirty-two classes, twenty had voted aye, six had voted nay, and four had not reported. The question then came before the Synod for final action. After a long and earnest debate the Synod voted one hundred and seventeen to seven to ratify the amendment by which the word "Dutch" is struck out of the Church name. The word Protestant was also dropped, and hereafter the body is to be known as the Reformed Church in the United States of America. The closing speech of the venerable Doctor Matthews, the oldest clergyman in the Synod, was powerful in the fact of unanswerable facts in regard to the disadvantages under which they have labored in connection with other denominations. He stated that while the Dutch Church in New York, within sixty years, had only grown from eight to twelve churches, during the same period the Episcopal had increased the number of their churches from eleven to fifty-eight, five to one; the Presbyterians from four to forty-four, eleven to one; the Methodists, nine to one, and the Baptists eight to one. Notwithstanding the preponderating vote in making the change, the opposition from that portion of the veritable Hollandish descent is strong in wealth and influence, the Classis of New York taking the lead. It is not right, useful, as money is for church purposes, that the purse-bearing congregations should control the destinies of a body in so vital a matter, as the majority seek to do. It seems the question has not been submitted to the congregations, and is not necessary under their polity. But the question of the transfer of the Church property from the Reformed Protestant Dutch Church to the Reformed Church, is a question to be settled. The Independent, in commenting upon this change, remarks that we now have the German Reformed Church, representing such of the German and Scandinavian churches as were Calvinistic; the Reformed Presbyterian Church, a small body of Scotch origin; and the Reformed Church, representing the churches which sprung from Holland. The question of dropping the "Dutch" has been conducted with vigor within that body, to the exclusion of other interests. Now that the final action by the highest body in the Church having decided the matter, we hope the body will enter upon a glorious career of usefulness.

It is gratifying to note that the Friends are organizing Sunday Schools for the youth of that body. Recently a Convention of Quakers was held at New Bedford, Massachusetts, embracing four days, during which some of the Evangelical Friends took a leading part in the discussions relating to the usefulness of Sunday Schools, mission schools and modes to reach the churchless. Even the question of music was discussed and found advocates. There was throughout an aggressive spirit showing that the evangelical sentiment so alive among the churches was felt by this staid class of Christians.

Since the adjournment of the great Pan Episcopal Council in England, it is proposed to hold a Pan-Methodist Conference, and also a Pan-Presbyterian Synod, to unite the respective branches of the American and Calvanistic type. The fruits of the Philadelphia Union Presbyterian Convention are cropping out in many of the leading cities. A mass meeting of the Presbyterian Churches, favorable to union on the outline of a basis proposed by the Philadelphia Convention, has been called in Chicago. The call is signed by Dr. Robert Patterson, of the Advance, and others.

Calls, at home and abroad, have been made upon the American (Baptist) Foreign Bible Society to supply the Scriptures to the freedmen and foreign countries. The Baptist churches are urged to provide funds to the amount of twenty-five thousand dollars.

The reception of persons into full membership of the Methodist Episcopal Church, while apparently more formal is more impressive than formerly. Candidates are instructed as to the nature of the obligations they assume before the time and their reception before the entire congregation after answering certain questions, has a salutary effect upon them. Last Sunday morning was set apart in the Liberty Street M. E. church for this ceremony, at which time twenty one adults, young men and women, were solemnly received after a careful examination by the pastor, Rev. W. H. Locke, A. M. At the close of the ceremony, the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered to a large number of communicants.

The Methodists are not alone in the decrease of missionary contributions last year. We learn that the Reformed (Dutch) Church has had a decline in receipts of about five thousand dollars, and the disbursements have exceeded the income by nearly twenty thousand dollars.

The surprising fact is stated by a religious journal that fifty villages in New Hampshire have no preaching from ministers of any denomination.

Bishop Simpson dedicated in Detroit the Central M. E. Church, Sabbath week, said to be the finest structure belonging to that body. The value of the lot and building is estimated at one hundred and sixty thousand dollars. It is probable there are one or two churches now in course of erection that may exceed that amount. On the day of dedication twenty-eight thousand dollars were secured, being about five thousand more than was needed to liquidate the indebtedness.

Henry Ward Beecher received thirty thousand dollars for his story of "Norwood" in the New York Ledger. With his liberal salary as pastor of Plymouth Church, revenue from publishing sermons, books, and occasional lectures, his income is pretty considerable for a successor of the poor fishermen of Galilee.

A correspondent of the Christian Intelligencer advocates the advertising of the Gospel in the secular newspapers. A lady responds to the suggestion by offering to give fifty dollars annually towards the object.

According to the views of a city missionary in New York city, idle and profligate parents send their children frequently to Mission schools in order to obtain the supplies which are furnished. He gives an illustration of the reason assigned by a profligate father for changing his children from one school to another, that they could get more at the new school. "They do things up right," he says: "Last Saturday they were down to measure us all around for new shoes, and this morning they've sent us a whole barrel of flour. That's the school for me," hic-coughed the wretched man.

Bishop Asbury, the first bishop of the M. E. Church, history says he disliked the fair sex. There was one circuit in Virginia where the young ladies were so fascinating that all the young preachers sent there were soon taken captive. The bishop thought to stop this by sending thither two decrepid old men, but, to his surprise, both were married the same year. He exclaimed in disgust, "I am afraid the women and the devil will get all my preachers!" Wise as the good Bishop was he was mistaken as history clearly shows since his day.

The Liberal Christian (Unitarian) thinks Boston should get up an anti-cruelty-to-school-girl society. Without joking, punishing school-girls, says Zion's Herald, with the rod is absolute and unavailing cruelty.

Shooting Affair on the Steamer Julia—One man Killed and Three Wounded.

A lamentable shooting affray occurred Sunday evening, on board the steamer Julia, bound from New Orleans for St. St. Louis, in which one colored man, Henderson Jones, was killed, and three others, Russell Adams, Rufus Horton, and Frank Jasper, were severely and dangerously wounded. The circumstances of the affair, as related by the officers of the boat, were as follows: An old man named Horace Collier took passage on the boat at Springfield landing, for the mouth of St. Francis river, and a short time after showed evident signs of being crazy, and calling for the captain under great excitement, stated that the negroes employed on the boat were about to kill him. He was quieted upon the promise of ample protection, and nothing more was thought of it until about supper time, when the crew were on their way to the cook-house to get their food. Collier, who was seated upon the cook-house steps, drew a revolver and commenced firing. Five shots were fired with the result mentioned. Two balls entered Jones' body, killing him instantly. Collier was immediately secured, and upon the arrival of the boat at this point, lodged in jail to await an examination.—Vicksburg Times.

Daring Feat of a Fenian.

The Dublin correspondent of the London Times tells the following story:

John Francis Nugent, one of the prisoners who was acquitted at Manchester, and re-arrested, has been conveyed to Drogheda, his native town, where his return created no little sensation on Wednesday afternoon. Precautions had been necessary to prevent any attempt at rescue. The prisoner, who is about twenty-three years of age, and six feet in hight, served his time to his father, who is a builder. His Fenian sympathies brought him under the notice of the police at an early period, and in October, 1865, he was arrested on a warrant from the Lord Lieutenant, and after four months' imprisonment was liberated on giving heavy bail. In May, 1866, he was again arrested by the police, who found him in a back parlor in his father's house. He contrived to engage them in conversation while suddenly throwing up the sash, and springing from the window, a hight of fourteen feet, with extraordinary agility, he succeeded in affecting his escape. He got off from Drogheda in disguise, and made his way to Manchester, where he followed his trade as a carpenter, until he again fell into the hands of the police in consequence of the attack upon the police.

—Our city was cheered this morning by the sight of more than a ton of bullion bricks from the reduction works of Mr. Cullom, on Bear creek, a branch of Snake river, about a mile and a half from Montezuma, in Summit county. We spoke not long since of the forwardness of Mr. Cullom's works. Since then he has made a run of one hearth with the above result. In twelve hours, fourteen hundred and seventy-five pounds of ore was smelted down, giving eight hundred and twenty-five pounds of metal—lead and silver. This has not yet been assayed, but is supposed to contain from $500 to $600 to the ton in silver. The bars were deposited in the branch mint in this city. They number eighty-three, and the total weight is about twenty-two hundred pounds. The ore reduced was from the Comstock lode.—Denver News, Nov. 22.

The Great Secret.

The grand secret in medication is to help Nature. SUSTAIN and REGULATE—these are the Alpha and Omega of the only theory of cure that has common sense for its basis. If the nervous system is shattered, the muscles weak, and the mind like the body, in a state of partial collapse—what is it best to do? Reason teaches us the answer: BUILD UP YOUR MAN. Brace him as you would a tottering edifice. The pabulum he needs is a Tonic alterative. Bring him up out of the depths of Debility and Despondency with HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. They cannot injure. A child may take them in doses suited to its years, without the possibility of harm. The enfeebled vital powers are as sure to respond energetically to their action as the wilted grass is to erect its blades under the vivifying and refreshing rain. In all cases of debility the BITTERS are absolutely required. There is no substitute or succedaneum that will fill their place. Resort to the most wonderful of modern tonics, and all will be well. Bear in mind that in Dyspepsia, Intermittent Fevers, Bilious Disorders, and Affections of the Nerves no other medicine will produce one tithe of the good effect that invariably follows the use of this excellent INVIGORANT AND CORRECTIVE.

Important to Country Merchants.

Merchants visiting the city to lay in their supply of goods would do well to call at the great medicine emporium of DR. KEYSER, 140 Wood street, and put in a supply of his invaluable PECTORAL SYRUP and BLOOD SEARCHER, the former of which has been used in the Doctor's practice for over twenty years, and has saved thousands from the consumptive's grave. DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP will invariably give satisfaction to all persons afflicted with coughs and hoarseness and the usual pulmonary maladies incident to this season of the year, whilst DR. KEYSER'S BLOOD SEARCHER is daily curing some of the most hopeless cases of disease, of a class little cared for by physicians, and usually deemed incurable, such as cancers, white swellings, scrofulas, tetters. It is exceeding proper now, when the change from fall to winter is about to occur, that most of those who are debilitated and prostrated by sickness, should resort to some such a remedy as DR. KEYSER'S BLOOD SEARCHER, which will not only cleanse and purify the natural channels of the human system, but at the same time sweep off debility and reinstate vigor and nervous energy. It is wholly unlike most stimulating compounds and bitters, which for a while spur, but afterwards sink to a greater prostration. Country merchants and farmers cannot do better than to purchase from half a dozen to a dozen of Dr. KEYSER'S medicines, as in doing so they will confer lasting benefit upon all whose health and life has been prolonged and improved. These two medicines of DR. KEYSER'S have acquired a hold on the affections of the people commensurate only with their superlative merits.

Ask for DR. KEYSER'S BLOOD SEARCHER and take no other, at 140 Wood street. Resident consultation office, 120 Penn street.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

The largest daily paper in the State of Pennsylvania, enters the 82nd year of its existence with increased facilities for disseminating the current news of the day, and for rendering good political service in the important Presidential Canvass of 1868. The forthcoming session of Congress promises to prove one of the most important held since the formation of the Government, and the proceedings will be anxiously watched by the intelligent masses. In view of the deep interest centered in the proceedings, the proprietors of the GAZETTE have made arrangements for daily dispatches and letters during the session, from a highly intelligent correspondent, who enjoys the confidence and friendship of the leading members of the Senate and House, the heads of the various Departments, and the leading politicians who frequent Washington, so that readers can depend on receiving the first, fullest and most reliable intelligence from the seat of Government.

The proceedings of the State Legislature, at its forthcoming session, will also prove interesting, inasmuch as many questions of importance will come up for legislation. The GAZETTE will keep at the State Capital, during the entire session, an intelligent and faithful correspondent, who will promptly report the proceedings by mail and telegraph.

It is the only political journal of Pittsburgh which faithfully reflects and steadily advocates the principles held by the Union Republican Party, and interpreted by a loyal Congress.

It gives as much reading matter as any paper sold at twelve dollars per annum, while its price is but eight, being the cheapest as well as the largest newspaper in the Commonwealth.

With the enlargement, every department has been strengthened. The high character of its editorial columns will be maintained, and all questions of public importance will be fearlessly discussed.

The news department will be kept up to the requirements of the day, and in condensed items will faithfully mirror all the transactions worthy of note of the City, State, Country and world at large, and maintain for the GAZETTE the reputation of a live, enterprising and first class family and commercial newspaper.

Ample space has been reserved for market reports, which can at all times be relied upon as correct, as the current quotations for manufactures, farm products, cattle, &c., &c., are daily gathered from actual sales, by faithful and efficient reporters.

The river news is collected with care, and will prove a very interesting feature of the GAZETTE.

The financial news department has been placed in charge of an able and experienced banker, who will render it quite an attractive and useful specialty to bankers, brokers and business men generally.

The religious department will receive the attention due its importance, and will be so conducted as to be pleasing and readable to members of all religious denominations.

The agricultural, art, science, literary, personal and other departments of the paper will be conducted in a manner which will prove satisfactory to the reader.

TERMS OF THE DAILY GAZETTE.

Three Months	$2.00
Six Months	4.00
One Year	8.00

Delivered in Pittsburgh, Allegheny and all the adjacent Boroughs for 15 cents per week, payable to Carriers.

THE WEEKLY GAZETTE.

The WEEKLY GAZETTE has been enlarged to the same size as the Daily, and is now the largest, cheapest and best weekly family newspaper in the State. It should be in the house of every farmer, mechanic and business man. It gives each week forty solid columns of current news by telegraph and mail, the leading editorials of the daily, and a choice selection of literary and scientific items, together with everything important pertaining to the world of politics. Its agricultural columns will be edited in such a manner as to find favor with the farmer and gardener. The market reports of the WEEKLY GAZETTE are by common consent acknowledged to be the standard authority for both buyers and sellers, and in commercial circles in Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and Western Virginia are without equal. The files of the GAZETTE are used exclusively by the Civil Courts of Allegheny county, as reference in important issues, to determine the ruling prices in the markets at the time of the business transaction in dispute.

Our Agents will favor us by getting up their clubs at once, and not allowing their present ones to expire, as we are anxious that none of our readers should be deprived of a week's news. Additions to clubs can be made at any time, at yearly rates. Postmasters and Merchants are requested to act as Agents.

HEALING WITHOUT DRUGS.

The true curative plan or natural healing art is based entirely upon physiological principles—upon the ACTIVITY OF FUNCTIONS in appropriating or using the LIFE SUSTAINERS, and their nutrient value being assimilated in a manner that is potent in the BANISHMENT OF DISEASE from the system. But before we can heal through the inherent vital properties of the tissues, we bring the RATIONAL MATERIA MEDICA to bear, in DRAWING OUT THE DISEASE MEDICINES, and morbid materials through the activity of the depurating channels, sanatory provisions and safety valves, with which the system is bountifully supplied. But when these are either obstructed or not understood, the penalty is the same; therefore instead of quaking lest we die before we have gained more money than we can use, it is our highest policy to learn first the laws of righteousness in the bodily tabernacle, in order that we may live to inherit our natural wealth of happiness. By our normal tonics, alteratives, stimulants, sedatives, &c., we get the FRIENDLY changes of vital action, without the corrosive wounds inflicted by drugs. By a correct dealing with causes in the province of disease, we eradicate the whole catalogue of parasites, among which are tape worm, erratic worm, &c.; also, tumors, cancers, ulcers, abscesses, dropsy, insanity, diseases of the bone or mailities, ossium and fragilitus ossium, deafness, liver complaint, dyspepsia, gout, rheumatism, neuralgia, and in short every disease that flesh is heir to, provided our remedial plan is strictly adhered to. We do not expect to please all. But those who have been the victims of the empyraetism and ingenious lingo of similia similibus curantur, and contraria contrariis curantur practice; and now wish PHYSICAL REDEMPTION, in its broadest sense, can try the Vis-Conservatrix Naturae Method, by giving us a call, at No. 50 CENTRE AVENUE, Pittsburgh.

To the Churches and Charitable Institutions of Pittsburgh, Allegheny and Vicinity.

THE CONVICTION HAVING become deepened in the minds of those most active in the Charitable Societies and Sunday schools of the city that much effort for Sunday Schools is made useless, and charity to the poor wasted through the lack of a common basis of operation and a mutual understanding among the different bands of workers, the Board of Directors of the Young Men's Christian Association, at the recommendation of its Committee on City Evangelization, have resolved to call a Conference Meeting of representatives from the various churches and charitable societies, for an interchange of views and experience on these most important subjects.

It is earnestly requested that each Church and Association be represented by its Pastor or President and one or more members.

525 MILES
OF THE
UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD,
Running West from Omaha,
ACROSS THE CONTINENT,
ARE NOW COMPLETED.

This brings the line to the eastern base of the Rocky Mountains, and it is expected that the track will be laid thirty miles further, to Evans Pass, the highest point on the road, by January. The maximum grade from the foot of the mountains to the summit is but eighty feet to the mile, while that of many eastern roads is over one hundred. Work in the rock-cuttings on the western slope will continue through the winter, and there is now no reason to doubt that the entire grand line to the Pacific will be open for business in 1870.

The means provided for the construction of this Great National Work are ample. The United States grants its Six Per Cent. Bonds at the rate of $16,000 to $48,000 per mile, for which it takes a SECOND LIEN as security and receives payment to a large if not to the full extent of its claims in services. These Bonds are issued as each twenty mile section is finished, and after it has been examined by United States Commissioners and pronounced to be in all respects a first class road, thoroughly supplied with depots, repair shops, stations, and all the necessary rolling stock and other equipments.

The United States also makes a donation of 12,800 acres of land to the mile, which will be a source of large revenue to the company. Much of this land in the Platte Valley is among the most fertile in the world, and other large portions are covered with heavy pine forests and abound in coal of the best quality.

The Company is also authorized to issue its own First Mortgage Bonds to an amount equal to the issue of the Government, and no more. Hon. E. D. Morgan and Hon. Oakes Ames are Trustees for the Bondholders, and deliver the Bonds to the Company only as the work progresses, so that they always represent an actual and productive value.

The authorized capital of the Company is One Hundred Million Dollars, of which over five millions have been paid in upon the work already done.

Earnings of the Company.

At present the profits of the Company are derived only from its local traffic, but this is already much more than sufficient to pay the interest on all the Bonds the Company can issue, if not another mile were built. It is not doubted that when the road is completed the through traffic of the only line connecting the Atlantic and Pacific States will be large beyond precedent, and, as there will be no competition, it can always be done at profitable rates.

It will be noticed that the Union Pacific Railroad is, in fact, a GOVERNMENT WORK, built under the supervision of Government officers, and to a large extent with Government money, and that its bonds are issued under Government direction. It is believed that no similar security is so carefully guarded, and certainly no other is based upon a larger or more valuable property. As the Company's

First Mortgage Bonds

Are offered for the present at NINETY CENTS ON THE DOLLAR, they are the cheapest security in the market, being more than 15 per cent. lower than United States Stocks. They pay

Six Per Cent in Gold,

Or OVER NINE PER CENT. upon the investment. Subscriptions will be received in Pittsburgh by

HART, CAUGHEY & CO., Third and Wood streets.
S. McCLEAN & CO., 75 Fourth street.
JAMES T. BRADY & CO.,
And KRAMER & RAHM,

And in New York at the Company's Office, No. 20 Nassau street, and by CONTINENTAL NATIONAL BANK, No. 7 Nassau street.
CLARK, DODGE & CO., Bankers, No. 51 Wall street.
JOHN J. CISCO & SON, Bankers, No. 33 Wall street.

And by the Company's advertised Agents throughout the United States. Remittances should be made in drafts or other funds par in New York, and the bonds will be sent free of charge by return express.

A new PAMPHLET AND MAP, showing the Progress of the Work, Resources for Construction, and Value of Bonds, may be obtained at the Company's Offices, or of its advertised agents, or will be sent free on application.

We call the attention of BRICK MAKERS to SWORD'S BRICK MACHINE. It will double the product of any yard, it makes perfect bricks of a superior quality, does away with the expensive moulding sand, dispenses with brick moulds and luting yard to the great saving of money and labor. Soak and filling pits are not used; there is no loss of time by the machines waiting for tempered clay, nor loss of bricks exposed to storms. They receive a heavy steam-power pressure, and dry uniformly in hakes—not a crust outside and soft mud inside—so they are stronger and truer in form, while the waste and cost in burning, bracing the kiln, and loading the burned bricks is lessened. It is cheaper every way to handle good bricks than poor ones.

Sword's machine grinds mud with broad and powerful knives in the usual manner, but uses only a moderate quantity of water for tempering. The moulds are filled on the screw principle, similar to Wiley's Newburg machines. Sword's machine has eighteen steel moulds, nicely fitted with plungers, like the Philadelphia brick press. They are set in a revolving horizontal, cast-iron mould wheel. The empty moulds are carried under the grinding mill, and the screw packs the mud into them 7⅜ inches, more than full. The wheel then passes them under an inclined plane of chilled cast iron, which presses down and strikes off the clay. The bricks are finally compressed by steam power—by the rising of the plungers as in the Philadelphia brick press. The plungers lift the finished bricks to the surface of the mould wheel, (by which their edges are polished,) which carries them around to the wheeler which is ready to receive them. The wheelers hake the bricks two courses high on each of four hakes across the whole yard, and then repeat the process until they are eight courses high, ready to be secured from storms.

The mud does not stick to the polished steel moulds. At every revolution the polished cast-iron plungers go through the moulds and back, thoroughly emptying them. The engineer keeps the ready-made pressed bricks continually running out as fast as the wheelers can hake them up, and the baking gang keeps the setting gang of the same number of men busy, as the bricks dry quickly. An eight (8) inch cylinder engine furnishes the power.

We intend to exhibit the working of Sword's brick making machine at our factory, on the day of our auction, Dec. 11, (see "Auction Sales.") The steamer Magenta will leave Barclay street at 7 a. m. on that day. Brick-makers and all others interested are invited to examine it. If secured in time, it will more than pay for itself next year.

We desire to form a company with brick makers, clay owners and capitalists, to use this machine, providing that owners of good clay beds and other advantages will put in their clay property at reasonable prices, in consideration of the benefits and of the use of these machines.

The Tiffany Tile Machine resembles the Sword brick machine in simplicity, efficient application of power to grind clay and drive it out in strong polished tiles, as fast as they can be wheeled away and dried in the yard—thus simplifying the tile manufacture to wheeling ready made tile. No other machine makes tile so smooth, strong and cheap, and such favorites with consumers, with so economical and easy superintendence. With these two machines and an eight (8) inch cylinder engine, tile and brick-making can be advantageously combined in many places. We shall soon be ready to furnish machines with all the direction and explanations necessary to construct yards and carry on the business.

The Tiffany Pipe Machine has valuable qualities for the manufacture of sewer pipe. It surpasses all other pipe in strength, straightness, squareness of joints, safety in burning, and smoothness when glazed.

INGRAHAM'S DITCHING MACHINE

Must add greatly to the national wealth. It digs the ditch and removes the dirt without gearing. The plow beam is double. One end rests on the beam wheel axles. The other end on the elevator wheel axles. The three plows are hung under this double plow beam, between the beam wheel and elevating wheel. These wheels stand on the bottom of the ditch. There the plows draw and cut the same at the surface and in deep ditches, therefore the elevations between the elevating and beam wheels are leveled, and the hollows pass over, i. e.: the machine makes a small bottomed ditch on rough ground. The machine is drawn by the elevating wheel-axles. Just so fast as the foremost double plow opens a furrow six (6) inches wide, a six inch belt passes down around a belt inside the plow and rests on the ground in the furrow. The side plows cut three inches more each side, but not quite so deep as the centre furrow, and turn the loose dirt down on the belt, between the flanges on the elevating wheel. The elevating wheel rolls over and takes up the belt and dirt as they lie still in the furrow, and the dirt is carried over the wheel between this furrow belt and another one next the wheel where it runs off in shoots each side of the ditch. This principle to plow ditches and elevate the dirt without gearing is the true one. The sides of the ditch are not shaken and shattered, but are smoothly cut true, parallel and perpendicular. The earth thrown into the ditch shrinks away from its smooth sides, whereas in the sloping sided ditch the filling in settles down on the sides. Holes dug as small as a man can work, eight feet deep on our property, to explore for clay, are found with the filling in shrunk one inch from the perpendicular sides all around six years afterward, but with the earth and sod sold at the surface. A ditch dug three feet deep in dry sand by this machine, stands firm when a clumsy shoveller would have the sides shattered and crumbling in.

The farmer drives back and forth turning it as easy as a reaping machine, and plows and elevates just as much dirt as he wishes to tax the strength of his team with but there is not such waste of his team's power by side draft, gearing, etc., as exists in mowing machines and other labor saving machines. A ditching machine with gearing like mowing machines, and others, would be unfit to work in deep ditches in the midst of mud, dirt, sand, and all soils, to choke up the gearing and waste its power. When the impracticability of gearing in machines for dirty work in deep ditching is considered, also the many failures in ditchers by ignoring this fact, also that Ingraham has secured his patents from theft, it will be seen what a difficult task other inventors have to invent machines without gearing, to break down his monopoly of a practical ditching machine. Still, inventors of machines whose nature did not prohibit the use of gearing, who probably would not have succeeded under such prohibition, who would be no match for Ingraham on equal conditions, and whose inventions the public did not feel such a fervent desire to see developed as they do ditching machines, have attained just and wonderful success; where they could not keep their competitors at such a distance below them as Ingraham's invention does. In 1853, 2529 sewing machines were sold. Now they are sold by the hundred thousand annually, and millions of dollars are invested in manufacturing them. In a few years the sale of mowing machines has grown from nothing to nearly 100,000 per year. Before Ingraham's Patents expire, in 17 years, there will be at least from 2 000,000 to 10,000,000 mowing machines sold, to be used a few days in harvest each year. Cheap and good ditches are equivalent to cheap tile to farmers. The tendency is to increase the use and value of tile; but, as the tile machine cheapens the manufacture of tile, the ditching machine adds to value of our tile machines, as much as our tile machines are worth more than other tile machines.

What will be the value of the one ditching machine of paramount importance to increase the national wealth when such branches of business as sewing machines, mowing machines, etc., create such wealth as they do?

What will such an ally be worth to the business and sales of the tile and pipe machines of the Crossman Clay and Manufacturing Company? H. C. Ingraham is a stockholder in the Company, and takes an active and deep interest in its welfare. The ditching machine will be used as an ally to the Company, and owned by some of its members without costing the Company one dollar. Sword's brick machine will also be sold by a member of the Company. What more sure business to secure wealth, and be independent of would-be competitors, can there be than to get a Sword's brick machine, Tiffany tile machine and ditching machine of us? We could show equal value of these inventors to the Crossman Clay and Manufacturing Company in many respects, if proper to do so. The public do not discriminate enough between inventors that borrow their ideas, imitate others, and of course go but little further in improvements, and those inventors with real genius for original inventions, whose resources of mind and improvement are never exhausted while health remains. Our machinery and system of manufacture is being improved, and will be improved toward removing every imperfection.

These inventors and their inventions are connected with the best clay property known. A railroad three-fourths of a mile connects the clay bank and factories, with a wharf on ship channel that admits of shipments direct to the consumers by ocean, sound, river or canal navigation. The little quantity of dirt over the clay is placed where it makes brick yards that can produce from 3 000,000 to 10,000,000 brick next year. Sword's brick machine will use the clay to uncover the clay. Tiffany's tile machine will then use the clay to uncover pipe clay. Tiffany's pipe machine will use three more strata of clay to make valuable sewer pipe. Valuable fire clay will then be uncovered at our very railroad cars, and nearly as cheap to dig as ordinary clay. Our process causes but little waste, whereas the greater portion is wasted in other banks to get the one stratum of fire clay. Is it not better for tile, pipe and brick consumers to have an interest in such a clay bank, with such a system, such machinery monopolized, and such men as we have secured? When has there been or will there be such an opportunity in any one respect with such a combination of advantages? Such real estate investments, as good Woodbridge clay banks, are hard to be found and more hard to be bought. The clay cannot be lost by accident, and always increases in value while lying in the ground.

Our improvements are rude and imperfect, but we can substantiate the fact that we have such clay property; with such natural and artificial advantages; such machines; such men; and such opportunities to build up business, as cannot be found at present in this country in one firm. Probably New York City will need $1,000,000 worth of sewer pipe, before the city is properly drained for health, and other cities in proportion. (See "Draining for Profit and Health," by Geo. E. Waring, sold at Agriculturist Office.) The demand for fire brick will increase; the demand for tile is increasing enormously; com[illegible] brick the same and the future consumption of clay goods is beyond computation. Our Company has greater advantages in every respect except in amount of capital, than any other to supply this demand with cheap and superior goods. The supplies of clay are enormous, and the gross value of one acre exceeds half a million dollars. We submit the following figures to prove this is an underestimate, and our bank will again show our figures and measurements to be very much underestimated. Still, we prefer sticking to our underestimate of over half a million per acre as our statement.

6 feet deep, com. Brick Clay 618 per cubic yard. 5,932,800 @ $8— 47,462 00
2 feet deep Tile Clay (2-inch Tile) .... 2,484 800 @ $20— 69,696
9 feet deep Pipe Clay, (6-inch pip.) .... 1,881 278 @ $401—552 511 20
6 feet deep Fire Brick, (Best No. 1) .... 2,340,000 @ $45—172,800 00
$842 469 60
Assuming wrongfully a deduction of 20 per cent for waste, low prices, losses, &c. 168,492 93
Leaves per acre of 4,800 Surface Yards $673 975 68

Every practical brick maker knows that with coal delivered at $4.50 per ton and our facilities that he could make a fortune to leave his present business and make goods for our Company with such machines as they can give, at 50 per cent of the value of the goods—because he knows that common brick alone (the poorest part) will pay when simplified to wheeling brick. Our yard would heretofore make 3 000,000 brick with ordinary soft mud machines and did mould 2,5??,?00 this year. They have been enlarged, and with suitable sheds, one more Fire Brick Kiln and one or two Sword's Brick Machines and Tiffany's Tile Machines would produce from 5 000,000 to 10,000,000 brick next year, or say 4 000,000 brick and 2,000,000 drain tile and an equal value of fire brick and pipe. The business is based only on the private operation of Crossman Bros., and would be unworthy of the business of a Company and its advantages. Assuming our present rude and incomplete fixtures to produce only $150 000, and to unnecessarily cost 50 per cent. of value, and allow our valuable machines and other incomes to produce nothing, it would yield simply in interest on $1 000,000 Capital at Eastern rates of interest, but the increase in value of property, and establishment of prosperous business would be invaluable to the Company. With our present rude fixtures the full resources and capabilities of the place cannot be made available until the natural course of removing dirt to build yards creates valuable brick and tile yards almost free from cost, and until our valuable machines and moderate business increases our Capital and fixtures; as idle clay produces nothing, but every dollar of additional working capital above our present fixtures that is spent putting our clay through such machines as ours and making such goods as can be made, will more than pay itself back every season. It cannot be otherwise, for it produces valuable goods from dormant clays and from clays that are wasted and a nuisance to others that are now acquiring wealth wherever the valuable clays of Woodbridge are used in any manner that is not outrageously awkward and wasteful.

There are few branches of business where the liberal use of capital is more in place than in bringing our dormant clays out of the ground. There is no uncertainty about their existence or value. It requires no uncertain boring or shafting to find them. They are visible, and it is of as much importance to get them as to dig a crop of potatoes, perhaps more so.

Still we found such a disposition to use the property as a speculating rather than a brick making operation, and men that sit in Wall street offices and worked mines in inaccessible distant sections and mountains; risking nothing but office expenses; samples of ore; certificates from Professor Easygot that those samples yielded so many thousand dollars per ton, could sell handsomely engraved stock certificates so much cheaper than we could after spending years to develop real property, and testing our principles, that we deemed it advisable to reduce our capital below the actual wants of the country, and put our property at much less than value for the sake of future benefits.

The amount of stock we issue ($250,000) does not begin to represent the real value of property the Company receive. Our rude fixtures were necessary to prove their practicability and should have bought their true value as well as the clay property. But if we get the pay for our fixtures, the clay property does not cost the Company $50,000. On the other hand, if we get the real auction value of our clay property from the Company, then we get nominal pay only for over $50,000 value in fixtures that has cost us real cash and exertions to procure. One or the other, we lose the value of trusting to future benefits to redeem. We get all our pay for the most valuable kind of Real Estate in this country in stock of the Crossman Clay and Manufacturing Company, and not one dollar in cash until we make it. We sell what is necessary and hold all we can.

The inventors and working officers venture all their resources with confidence, and so does every working member of the Company. The Patents will cost the Co. $35,000 to $50,000 in stock, but it is far less in proportion than the former sales of these patents before their value was known. The whole property, patents, everything will cost the Co. (according to amount of property retained by Company) from $187,000 to $197,000 including several thousand dollars worth of clay ready to ship. The same value in all respects could not be duplicated for double and treble the money under any other circumstances, but every member deems it best to combine all our advantages on easy terms and indemnify ourselves by future business, which gives those few that can find room to associate within the benefit of the developments of all our Company and inventors for years past. There will be $40,000 in par value of the Company stock for sale. Private sale before the Auction preferred in order to select associates.

Not content with this, however, it has been economizing in fuel, and the North American says that the jurors have to dance about to keep themselves warm. Besides this, the house cleaners have been dismissed, leaving the care of the whole building to one janitor. Public spirit of this kind is refreshing after reading a few of the lauditory articles with which Philadelphia newspapers teem.

At the annual meeting of the Church Extension Society of the M. E. Church, in Philadelphia, it was decided to make a special plea in behalf of this new Church Society, by holding meetings in the principal cities. We have just been informed that a mass meeting for the promotion of this cause is to be held in Christ M. E. Church this evening, at which addresses will be delivered by Bishop Janes and Dr. Kynett, the Corresponding Secretary of the Society. Bishop Janes is to preach to-morrow morning at Christ Church, and in the evening at Smithfield street Church. Dr. Kynett preaches at Liberty street Church in the morning, and at North Avenue Church, Allegheny, in the evening.

We believed that it was very generally believed that William Tell was a myth, a sort of idealized hero of the fancy, common to all European countries, and originating in Scandinavia, whence he had been adopted into heroic mythology in Switzerland, just as the sleeper in Kyffhausen is reproduced in Holger Danske, in Charlemagne and in hosts of other heroes, and as Peter Klaus has come forth in Rip Van Winkle. These wonderful legends travel as far and take root in all soils as kindly as the down of the thistle. But we see that the learned correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette has thrown his opinion on the other side. He even tells us as a novel wind up to the most affecting history, that Tell lost his life, when quite old, in trying to rescue a drowning child in the Vierwalder lake. We thought we had heard the same ending to the Northern Tell, in Norway, but of course mistakes are common to all, and the old story, like many a tale in history, may have reproduced itself.

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE.

FOR SALE—The best Farm in Fairfield township, Westmoreland county, Pa., containing about 260 acres, situated six miles south of the Pennsylvania Railroad, at Bolivar Station. The improvements are a large hued log house, with nine rooms, a good cellar; a frame bank barn, 40x70, with the best of stabling. Two apple and one peach orchard. The whole farm is under a high state of cultivation; the fencing is all No. 1; the soil is good, and is well watered; about 200 acres cleared, the remainder in good white oak timber. This property is offered at the low price of fifty dollars per acre. Possession immediately.

Also, a Farm of 312 acres in Penn township, Westmoreland county, 220 acres cleared and under cultivation, 92 acres of first-rate white oak and other timber, 2 dwelling houses, 1 of them 2 stories, the other 1 story, with a tenant house, with a first-rate Steam Sawmill in good running order; young orchard of grafted fruit. The land is rolling; every acre is tillable, with limestone soil and subsoil, with never failing springs; within one hundred rods of the Penna. Central Railroad; 28 miles east of Pittsburgh, and three miles west of Greensburg. This farm is pleasantly and eligibly situated in a good neighborhood; every acre is underlaid with coal. The title is good.

Also, 60 acres in Derry township, Westmoreland county, Pa., within four miles of Blairsville, and three miles of two stations on the Pa. R. R. The improvements are, a new frame dwelling house and outbuilding; a new steam saw and grist mill, with two run of burrs, two bolting cloths, and all the necessary fixtures, and a young orchard of choice fruit trees. The whole tract is underlaid with a six foot vein of coal, now opened, and an abundance of limestone. This property will be sold very low, if applied for soon.

Also, the best Hotel in the Borough of Indiana, the county seat of Indiana county, Pa. This is a large four story brick building, of 54 rooms and a basement under the whole house, and is situated on the corner of Philadelphia and Clymer streets, on a lot 60 by 200 feet; and on said premises is a frame house 24 by 60 feet, used as a wood house in the lower story and ball room above; also, a frame stable 30 by 60 feet; also, a half lot, 50 by 100 feet on which is a large frame stable, used as a livery stable. The whole property has recently been painted and repaired throughout, and is one of the best locations for a public house in Western Pa., and will be sold very cheap if applied for soon.

Also, a Farm of 182 acres, at half price, to a cash customer. This farm is in Derry township, Westmoreland county, Pa., within two miles of Latrobe, a station on the Penna. R. R.; 130 acres of cleared land, under good fencing, the residue 52 acres in good white oak, black oak, hickory, black walnut and locust timber. This is a first rate farm, in a high state of cultivation, with good and comfortable buildings, a frame house of 8 rooms; large barn, 50 by 85 feet, and has coal and limestone under the whole tract, and is convenient to churches schools mills &c.

5,000 ACRES OF VALUABLE

Timber, Coal and Mineral Lands

FOR SALE.

Situate on the line of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad, in Cambria county, within a short distance of Wilmore Station; has a frontage on the Railroad of nearly three miles. Several veins of the best quality of pure rich bituminous coal underlie the whole tract. The veins rise gently from the Railroad towards the rest of the property, thus making it favorable for mining and easily drained. There is a large market for coke and it will cost but little to manufacture it. The property contains, besides the coal, several kinds of stratified IRON ORE; also LIME STONE. Fire and Potter's clays, sand stone for building and for glass manufacturers. Not far beneath the bed rock of the coal formation lies a valuable bed of Iron Ore, which has been opened and worked westward. A great portion of the tract is covered with valuable timber of large growth, such as Ash, Cherry, Linn, Poplar, Oak, &c. The facilities for transporting this timber, when manufactured into lumber, either east or west, are unsurpassed. There is a water power Saw Mill on the extreme part of the tract, and at the Railroad station there is an excellent steam Saw Mill, recently erected and now cutting 10,000 to 12,000 feet per day. The demand for lumber at this point is constant, and a much larger supply could be readily sold at the mill, while there is ample room and timber on this property for several such mills.

The improvements on the property are worth from $40,000 to $50,000. There are two large mansions built for former proprietors in elegant style; a large store house, shops, &c. and about ten tenements for workmen, with stables, &c.

These lands are also well adapted to farming purposes, and under proper agricultural treatment would yield good crops while they are specially adapted to grazing purposes.

SWORD'S SELF-TEMPERING

STEAM POWER

BRICK MACHINE,

MANUFACTURED BY THE

PITTSBURGH BRICK MACHINE

AND

BRICK MANUFACTURING CO.

This Machine takes the clay direct from the bank, (without the preparation, by soaking necessary for "soft mud" machines,) and tempers it thoroughly, pressing in steel moulds, brick stiff enough to be packed up eight high in the yard as made. For cutting with the trowel, bearing hard usage, and making a strong, true wall, there are no better brick known. The cost of making them by this machine is from 95 cents to $1.10 per 1,000, according to the rates of wages. This we guarantee. The machine is built entirely of iron and steel; and in the best style for strength and permanent use in working clay. Apply for circulars, giving full information, at the office,

THE COURTS.

District Court—Judge Hampton.

FRIDAY, Dec. 6.—The case of the Trustees of the Springdale Methodist Episcopal Church vs. John Hunter, Sr., et. al., was resumed and not concluded at adjournment.

Common Pleas—Judge Mellon.

FRIDAY, Dec. 6.—The jury in the case of McDonald vs. N. Holmes & Sons returned a verdict for defendants.

Motions for new trials were entered in the cases of Jas. Marshall & Co. vs H. W. Tweddle and George McCombs vs James Rowan.

F. M. Lynch vs Margaret Bradie. Action in ejectment to recover possession of property in Third ward, Allegheny. On trial.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Sterrett.

FRIDAY, December 6.—Court met at at the usual hour, Judge Sterrett on the Bench.

LARCENY OF PAPERS.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. S. Washington, indicted for the larceny of a receipt for $100, and other papers, T. M. Bell, prosecutor, on trial at the time of adjournment Thursday, was resumed this morning. The counsel for defendant called a number of witnesses who testified as to his good character, after which the case was submitted to the jury without argument. The Court charged the jury to the effect that the taking of the papers did not constitute a larceny. The jury returned a verdict of "not guilty."

SENT TO HOUSE OF REFUGE.

Commonwealth vs. Jacob Keyser; indictment larceny, James Lawson, prosecutor. The defendant in this case were a German boy about sixteen years of age, and it is alleged he stole a pair of boots from the prosecutor, who resides in McCandless township. It appears that the defendant entered the house of the prosecutor, on the 18th of September, and carried away the boots, which was afterwards found in his possession. The jury returned a verdict of guilty, but on account of the youthfulness of the prisoner, recommended him to the mercy of the Court. He was sent to the House of Refuge.

LARCENY BY BAILEE OF A CASK OF WINE

The next case taken up was that of the Commonwealth vs. George B. Fry, indicted for the larceny by bailee of a cask of wine, M. Ritter, of New York, prosecutor, who alleges that he forwarded to the defendant a cask of Rhine wine, for Mr. Bergher, a saloon keeper. He was in the habit of making consignments to Mr. Fry, who in this case, it is alleged, appropriated it to his own use. The defence alleged that the wine was not appropriated, but was left on his hands by Bergher, who refused to take it, on account of some delay in the shipment, and tendered the wine. The Court charged that the Commonwealth must satisfy the jury that the defendant not only failed to deliver the wine, but that he converted it to his own or the use of some other than the rightful owner, before they could find a verdict of guilty. The jury returned a verdict of guilty and recommended the prisoner to the mercy of the Court.

PLEAD GUILTY.

Thomas Smith, indicted for the larceny of a watch, belonging to James Harbaugh, plead guilty to the indictment, stating that he was intoxicated at the time the offence was committed. The larceny was committed at the St. Nicholas Hotel, where the parties had occupied a room jointly, and while Harbaugh was asleep Smith took the watch. He was arrested the following morning by officer Cupples, and a pawn broker's check for the watch found in his possession. The sentence of the Court was that the prisoner pay the costs of prosecution, and a fine of one dollar to the Commonwealth, return the property stolen, or pay the full value thereof, and undergo an imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a term of fifteen calendar months.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

John Thommy, indicted for assault and battery on oath of Christian Yechel, was placed upon trial. The defendant, in company with two other men, it is alleged, entered the house of the prosecutor, who keeps a saloon in the Diamond, Allegheny, at a late hour on Saturday night preceding the 18th of October, and demanded the privilege of playing a game of bagatelle, which was refused. They then assaulted him, and one of the party struck him three times with a "billy" on the back of the head. The case was still on trial when the Court adjourned.

A Few Words to the Citizens of Allegheny.

The Allegheny Ladies' Association for the Relief of the Poor has faithfully dispensed the means which you have placed at their disposal for twenty years. During this time we have so fully enjoyed your confidence, that you have never failed to respond to our appeals, to whatever extent the demand upon us required. It has only been necessary to circulate our subscription book among those whose names are familiar to us as generous givers.

We now ask an increased liberality for the reason that the necessity is greater than ever before, and unless our means of relief are greater the suffering must be correspondingly increased. The circumstances which make many of you feel less able to give, bear with ten-fold force upon the unfortunate who are compelled to seek aid, and in addition to the ordinary causes of want, there is in the city an unusual amount of sickness among the poor. A number of families reported by our visitors as suffering with small pox must be sustained, and there are almost as many others who are almost as helpless from chronic diseases, or other complications of misfortune, which entitle them to our sympathy in their distress.

With heavy hearts at the thought of the long winter just beginning, and our minds filled with the sorrowful scenes which are daily witnessed by our visitors, we make the simple statement of our needs in full faith that God will put it into your hearts to fill up the empty treasury of our Society.

Our subscription book will be circulated, and contributions may be handed to any of the managers of the Society: Mrs. Robinson, No. 1 Federal street; Mrs. Brunot, No. 50 Stockton avenue; Mrs. Hays, Stockton avenue; Mrs. Trevor, Anderson street; Mrs. Palmer, Anderson street; Mrs. Hoskinson, North Canal street; Mrs. Breading, No. 72 Washington street; Mrs. Lowry, No. 72 Washington street; Mrs. McClintock, No. 57 Washington street; Mrs. Jennings, Robinson street; Mrs. Patterson, Sandusky street; Mrs. Anderson, Sandusky street; Mrs. Cochrane, Sandusky street; Mrs. Poindexter, No. 16 Union avenue; Mrs. Hoag, Esplanade street; Mrs. Kay, Bidwell street; Mrs. Logan, Bidwell street; Miss Fleming, Robinson street; Miss Smith, Park street; Miss Bell, No. 92 Ohio street; Miss Blakey, Washington street; Miss Waring, Union avenue; Miss Morrison, Stockton avenue; Miss Fleeson, Western avenue; Mrs. Whitten.

All Hail—An Excellent Project.

We announced a few days ago the discovery of a remarkable salt spring on the property of Gen. Wm. Robinson, of Allegheny, estimating the spontaneous flow at five hundred barrels per diem, which, however, is now supposed to amount to over two thousand barrels per day. We are glad to learn that this wonderful flow of water is likely to be utilized both in the manufacture of salt and for an extensive hygienic bathing establishment, which we suggest might be further improved by ingrafting on the project a first-class swimming school, with male and female departments. As germain to this subject we subjoin the following communication from an eminent citizen of Allegheny:

GEN. ROBINSON'S SALT WELL.

We understand that the discovery of an immense flow of salt water from the well of General Robinson, in Allegheny, is likely to prove of great value, not only to the owner (who deserves a rich reward for his large expenditure and perseverance), but to the public at large, in its salutary influences on the general health, by the erection of a salt water bathing establishment, with commodious apartments and buildings got up with taste in their construction for public accommodation, and thus supercede the practice of resort to the sea shore for bathing purposes, under the auspices of a joint stock company of from thirty to fifty thousand dollars, irrespective of the manufacture of salt, of which the great flow of water will afford a supply sufficient for the production of that necessary article in large quantities. Thus making Allegheny, in addition to its other attractions, a desirable watering place for invalids as well as for recreation and healthful amusement. M.

Fifth Street.

The present condition of Fifth street, from Smithfield to Market, does not afford a very pleasing prospect to either the pedestrians, who have to traverse it daily, or those engaged in business on it. The thought of having to wade through mud ankle deep on the principle thoroughfare in the city for several months, as the present state of affairs would indicate, is by no means a pleasant reflection. If the weather should remain open, as it is now, it is not at all probable that the new pavement can be put down, so as to make a good job of it, which should be done by all means, in order to give it a fair test, and we presume a hard freeze would equally retard the progress of the work. If our conclusions are correct, we can see no remedy for the evil, unless the street be paved with "clinkers," which would make a good street during the winter, and an excellent bed for the pavement in the spring.

—The connection between gas and goodness is proved from the fact that since the introduction of gas in Knoxville, Tennessee, not a single crime has occurred there.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, December 6, 1867.

The decline of American securities in London and Frankfort was followed by an advance in the gold premium here of ⅜ per cent. The market opened at 137¾, but soon became dull at that, and closed at 137¼ at the adjournment of the board. The same cause that produced a decline from 141 to 136½ are still active, namely, the scarcity of money and the expense in carrying gold. In a commercial point of view gold should go much lower before a rise can take place, since there is no demand for it, and no inducement to buy for a rise that would compensate for the risk and cost of carrying. For political reasons no argument can be brought forward strong enough to justify a material advance, even if a policy of non-contraction should be pursued, the premium at present is high enough, and the probable measure has been discounted. As to the ability of the Government to reduce the national debt during the next three or four years, it matters but little so long as there is gold enough coming in, without buying to pay the interest on the public debt. After a period of good harvests and business prosperity, taxes can be levied to cover the deficiencies of the next two or three years with more ease than any legislation tending towards a forced business atrocity.

Government bonds are dull and lower this afternoon, even after the advance of bonds in London. There is no demand for investment, and rather a disposition to sell than buy. The stock market is steady but the business is light. Northwestern common is still on the rise, and Express stocks are at a stand still. Bank stocks are freely offered at concessions, and good corporation bonds can be had for less than cost.

Closing New York quotations, received by Ph. R. Mertz, were as follows:

—The following is a concise and comprehensive synopsis of the report of the Secretary of the Treasury:

The Secretary adheres to his policy of contraction of the currency, heretofore expressed by him as the proper one to be pursued, and thinks there is no reason why the business of the country cannot be brought to a specie basis by July 1, 1869. In order to bring this about he holds that three things are necessary: first, the funding or payment of the balance of the interest-bearing notes, and a continuance of the policy of contraction; second, the full maintenance of the public faith in the payment of the public debt; and third, the restoration of the Southern States. He argues that the question of specie payments underlies the great questions of the currency, taxation and reconstruction. He goes into an elaborate argument to show that the contraction should be applied to the legal tenders, rather than to the National bank notes, and he does not approve of substituting greenbacks for National bank notes. He takes strong ground against the proposition to redeem the Five Twenty bonds in currency, and urges economy in the public expenditures, and recurs to the subject of keeping faith in the bonds. On this latter subject he quotes from a speech made by Mr. Stevens in the House while one of the loan bills was under consideration, in which he twice referred to the bonds as being payable in gold. On the connection of reconstruction with the business prosperity of the country, he refers to the fact that last year, notwithstanding the crippled condition of the Southern States, those States furnished three-fourths of all the exports sent abroad to keep up the balance of trade. Referring to the matter of taxation of government bonds and the funding of our loans, he makes an important recommendation in favor of a consolidated 6 per cent. loan, to run twenty years, from which one-sixth of the interest shall be annually withheld from the bondholders and paid over to the individual States. The Secretary urges greater stability in our revenue laws; recommends a revision of the tariff which he says yields a large amount of revenue, and yet does not protect American manufacturing interests; and calls attention to the decline of the American shipping interest. The internal revenue laws, he says, would have yielded more revenue than estimated if it had not been for the whisky frauds, and the failure of the revenue officers to collect the whisky tax, showing that both the officers and manufacturers of the article have become thoroughly demoralized by the temptations to evade or violate the law. The report shows a reduction of the public debt during the past of over $59,600,000. He estimates the expenses of the current fiscal year at $225,000,000, and the receipts for the same period at $384,000,000, leaving a balance of $1,000,000 on the 1st of July, 1868. On the whole, Mr. McCulloch takes a hopeful view of the financial situation, saying that our finances are in a much more satisfactory condition than at the date of our last report; and that during the same period "decided improvement has also been witnessed in the general economical condition of the country."

—The New York Tribune, of Thursday, says: The action of Congress upon financial questions is watched in commercial circles with unusual interest. The contraction in legal tenders made thus far has thrown many houses of long standing and hitherto good reputation into liquidation, and many more must follow as contraction proceeds. As Congress and the Secretary of the Treasury hold opposite opinions upon this point, and as no compromise will be made without extended controversy, the year promises to close with disastrous results to merchants.

The same paper also says in regard to Express stocks: "The Express companies have made an arrangement for an interchange of freights, and for a remunerative tariff. No consolidation has been made thus far, the Merchants Union claiming a larger share of the new corporation than the old companies are yet willing to concede. The paid up capital is $7,000,000, and many of its holders in the country are desirous that it should make no alliance."

PITTSBURGH METAL MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, December 6, 1867.

The metal market continues dull, the sales in the aggregate, being comparatively light, and while common and inferior grades are weak and drooping, good standard forge brands are held pretty firmly at former quotations. The following is a report of the sales during the week:

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, December 6, 1867.

There is nothing really new or important to be said about the general markets. For some few articles there is an improved demand, and that, too, at stiffening prices, but as a general thing, business is dull and heavy, with but little prospect of any immediate improvement.

GRAIN—There is quiet an active demand for Barley, and maltsters are paying $1,65 for No. 1 Spring. Wheat is quiet—Spring Wheat is very dull; prime Winter Red is selling at $2,45@2,50, and do White at $2,55@2,60. Oats firm, with sales on track at 67@68c, and in store at 70@72c. Rye is nominal at $1,45@1,50. Corn is in better demand and firmer but unchanged; sales of new at $1@1,05, and old at $1,18@1,20.

FLOUR—The market is firm, with a steady local demand, but prices are not quotably higher; sales in a regular way at $10@10,50 for Spring Wheat; $12@12 50 for Winter Wheat, and $14@15 for fancy brands. Rye Flour, $8,50, and Buckwheat, $5@5,50 per cwt.

MILL FEED—Sale of 1 car choice Seconds at $2. Middlings may be quoted at $2,25, and Bran at $1,60@1,65.

POTATOES—There is no improvement in the demand, and the market continues exceedingly dull; small sales of Peach Blows at 95@$1 per bushel. New Jersey Sweets quoted at $6 per barrel.

APPLES—The demand is a little more active, and while the market is a shade firmer, prices are unchanged; sales at $2,50@3 00 for fair to prime, and $4 for choice.

BUTTER—There is a good demand for prime choice Roll Butter, and we can report regular sales at 35@40c. Sale of 25 tubs common packed at 18c.

EGGS—The market is firmer, under the influence of light receipts, and prices have advanced to 32@33c.

DRESSED HOGS—The packers are buying at from 7¾ to 8¼c for fair to prime heavy averages.

HAY—Sale of 3 car baled, on track, at $22. Sales from country wagons at $18@23, as to quality.

DRIED FRUIT—Dull but unchanged at 7@8c for Apples, and 11@13c for Peaches.

BEANS—Dull at $3,25@3,50.

HOMINY—Quoted at $7@7,50.

APPLE BUTTER—Sales at 75@80c.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, December 6, 1867.

CRUDE—The market to-day differed in no respect that we could preceive from that of yesterday; there was not a single sale effected, and prices are dull and nominally unchanged at 6¼@7c. On Wednesday evening there was a sale of 1000 bbls—not before reported—at 7c, to arrive in tank cars. Barreled oil cannot be quoted above 6½c, and even at this, there is little or no demand. Last night there was an arrival of thirty-nine car loads of oil from Oil City, the first through shipment that has been made on the Allegheny Valley Railroad; three car loads of these were shipped by Messrs. Owston & Sowers, of Oil City, to Capt. James Wilkins, and the balance, we believe, is for Messrs. Lockhart & Frew, the well known refiners.

REFINED—There was not a single operation in bonded oil to-day, at least we had none reported, though the market, nevertheless, is reported a shade firmer; we are cognizant of direct offers to buy for all the month, buyer's option, at 25c, while spot oil, we presume, would bring 23½c. On Wednesday and Thursday there appeared to be no buyers above 24½@24¾c for all this month, as will be seen above, there is an improvement of fully half a cent. We are in hopes that a reaction is near at hand, and that before many days elapse, we will be able to report a better market; the prospects, however, are not very encouraging.

RIVER NEWS.

The weather is very fickle, changing two and even three times within twenty-four hours; on Thursday evening it was stormy and cold, while yesterday morning, a rain set in which continued almost without cessation during the entire day. Last night it appeared somewhat colder, and it would not be surprising if it was cold and freezing to-day. The river appeared to be on a stand last evening with twenty-two inches in the channel by the metal mark.

The advices from the headwaters of the Allegheny were more favorable, though somewhat conflicting; if there was as much rain up there as there was here there will doubtless be a rise, as there like here, there was considerable snow. We think that already enough rain has fallen to cause a rise, provided the weather does not turn suddenly cold.

On Friday last the celebrated Tennessee, the well-known iron-clad of Confederate fame, was sold at Algiers, La., bringing only a few thousand dollars. She was built at Selma, and cost the Confederate Government about $1,-500,000.

The work of repairing the levees of Louisiana, along the Lower Mississippi, is progressing, though but slowly, at many points. The Commissioners are at work at West Baton Rouge, Plaquemine and St. Bernard, while St. James, St. Charles and Jefferson are neglected.

It is said there are more empty barrels awaiting shipment at Lawrenceburg, than can be found in all of Cincinnati. At Aurora there are 300,000 reported.

During the month of November, 12,841 bales of cotton were shipped northward, over the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, against 5,320 bales shipped in the same month last year.

The Dubuque Herald publishes extracts from a number of letters received by business men in that city from parties residing in New York and New Orleans, all commending the Merry barge enterprise. That paper remarks:

No one doubts the success of Mr. Merry's enterprise, and we venture to say that when, within five years at farthest, the bulk of the produce of the Northwest is shipped to the seaboard markets by the way of New Orleans, at a cost not exceeding the present railroad charges to Chicago, there will be less wonder at the enterprise which has opened this cheap channel of commerce, than at the stupidity of men who have clamored for railroads as the only means of reaching markets, and of the people who have so long submitted to the robbery of railroad tariff. There can be no doubt that the Merry barge enterprise is of the greatest importance, and is so recognized by the leading business men of the east. It will be a success, and from its inauguration will date a happy era for the producers of the Northwest, thus emancipated from the enormous tributes levied in railroad freightages and canal tolls.

ST. LOUIS, December 4.—The conflicting effects of the rain and the late cold spell kept the river yesterday in a state of equilibrium. The weather and streets are intensely disagreeable this morning. There is reported over four feet of water to Keokuk, four feet ten inches to Cairo, and, at a rough estimate, twenty eight inches in the Illinois, and three and a half feet in the Missouri. The Naples packet has laid up, having run steadily nearly ten months. The Ocean Wave and barges arrived from Dubuque, and will leave for New Orleans by Saturday. The Walter Dance will remain below; also, it is said, the Mollie Able. The Julia has not arrived, although she left Cairo nearly four days ago. She has two barges and 800 tuns of freight, and got aground at Bainbridge. The Louisiana again loads here for New Orleans. Evening—Weather colder, with occasional flurries of snow.

We clip the following items from the Cincinnati Commercial of Thursday: The Camelia leaves for Portsmouth to-day in place of the Havana. The Starlight will lay up for the present. Capt. W. G. Ebert and Capt. Standish Peppard, of the Yorktown left for Pittsburgh in last night's train. Mr. Eph. King, mate of the Clifton, was married in Newport, Ky., on Tuesday evening, to a daughter of Captain McGeary. Capt. James H. Marratta writes that eight inches of snow fell at Rochester, Pennsylvania, on the 2d inst. He will arrive here to-day. Captain W. G. Voris, having purchased an interest in the Alaska, has taken charge of the office. The Wauanita, for New Orleans, passed Memphis on December 2, and the Temphis departed for Louisville with 300 bales of cotton. The Ezra Porter arrived from New Orleans, and enters the White river trade. During November, 12,841 bales of cotton were shipped northward over the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, against 5320 bales shipped in the same month last year.

The Cairo correspondent of the same paper furnishes the following additional particulars in regard to the somewhat romantic marriage on the Delaware:

Mr. John Gracey, of Pittsburgh, second steward of the Delaware, relieved the monotony of a long trip by assiduously cultivating the acquaintance of a passenger, Miss Francis R. Hale, who, in company with her father's family, was removing from New England, Athens county, O., to Harrison county Mo. A day or two ago the young folks concluded that, as the voyage on the Delaware was so pleasant, they would not be satisfied without a longer one in each other's society, and the old folks were accordingly asked give their consent to the young ones making the "journey of life" together. The officers of the Delaware gave proof as to the good character of Mr. Gracey, and as he further promised to test his sincerity by going with the family to their new home in Missouri the old folks gave their willing consent. On arriving at Cairo, Captain Calhoun assisted in procuring a license and a clergyman, (Rev. C. H. Foote, Pastor of the Presbyterian Church in this city) and laid the Delaware at the wharf until the ceremony was performed and the festivities of the occasion were over. A large number of invited guests were present, your correspondent being among the number. Joe Able was also present. He and Captain Calhoun took an intense interest in the proceedings, and carried the thanks of the young couple and their friends by their disinterested kindness. Joe was so excited that he wished to act as bridesmaid, but a more suitable person was at length found to fill that position. Mr. Gracey quit the boat at this point and with his bride to the new home of her parents. May he be happy in his new situation, and may his future "voyage" come to as successful a conclusion as that of the Delaware, for, although like her, he may meet with squalls and rub bottom pretty hard, yet these little incidents will but furnish the "variety" which is the "spice of life."

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE KENTUCKY STATE LOTTERY.
GRAND HOLIDAY DRAWING,
DECEMBER, 1867.
Whole Tickets, $12 Halves, $6; Quarters, $3.
No more acceptable and appropriate present can be made to a mother, wife, daughter, husband or father than a ticket in the Kentucky State Lottery. Now that the Holidays are so near at hand—the season when it seems almost a duty imposed by the custom of our forefathers for many generations, as well as a pleasure to confer gifts from loving hands—it seems peculiarly fitting to give presents that possess some actual value. It has long been acknowledged by all who are informed that the Kentucky State Lottery offers greater inducements to purchasers of tickets than any other in the world. A magnificent Single Number Drawing will take place on the 31st of December, which offers unrivaled inducements to purchasers holding tickets. Parties who are willing, by the investment of a few dollars, to compete for some one of the many splendid prizes offered, should lose no delay in applying for tickets. $230 650 will be distributed. The Capital prize is $50,000, insuring a handsome fortune to the lucky holder of the corresponding ticket.
Hundreds of well attested instances, similar to the following, are almost daily occurring:
"Miss Mary Russell Milford, who died in 1855, when only ten years of age, gained, as a prize in a lottery, the handsome sum of ten thousand pounds, or fifty thousand dollars. The ticket which drew this magnificent sum was presented to her by her father. Dr. Milford, one of the most prominent men and judges of his time."
How many homes would be brightened by a similar success in the Grand Holiday Drawing of the Kentucky State Lottery on December 31.

ORDINANCES.

A SUPPLEMENT TO AN ORDINANCE passed the 4th day of November, A. D. 1867, entitled "An Ordinance relative to the Laying of Gas Pipe."

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Burgess and Town Council of the Borough of Lawrenceville, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That no other Gas Company shall receive the privilege of introducing gas into said borough in competition with the Lawrenceville Gas Company: Provided, the said Lawrenceville Gas Company will furnish gas to the said borough, and the citizens thereof, at as low rates at all times as those now charged, or that may at any time hereafter be charged, by other companies similarly situated; and provided, further, that the said Lawrenceville Gas Company shall commence and prosecute operations within six months from the passage of this ordinance.

SECTION 2. That when any street, lane or alley of said borough shall be opened by the said Gas Company a distance not exceeding in length 400 feet for the purpose of laying down, relaying and repairing the pipes as aforesaid, the same shall not be kept open or obstructed for an unnecessary length of time, but shall be enclosed and repaired, and all rubbish and dirt occasioned by the opening of any street, lane or alley as aforesaid, shall be promptly and speedily removed by the said Gas Company, at its own proper costs and charges.

SECTION 3. In the opening of any street, lane or alley as aforesaid, the said Gas Company shall use all necessary precautions to protect the lives and property of the citizens from accident and damage. It shall erect or cause to be erected all necessary barricades to prevent all such accidents and damage, and shall not allow any part of its works or apparatus necessary for the preparation of gas to be so situate as to endanger the property of any citizen or become a public nuisance.

SECTION 4. That for any violation of the provisions of this ordinance the said Gas Company shall, upon conviction thereof before any Justice of the Peace of the county of Allegheny, forfeit and pay the sum of twenty five dollars, and for every hour's continuance thereof after such conviction, the further sum of five dollars; provided, that the recovery of any such fine or penalty shall not bar or in any manner interfere with the right of said borough, or any individual or individuals to maintain a civil action for any damages which they may have sustained by any violation of the provisions of this ordinance by the said Gas Company. de5:

AN ORDINANCE for the Grading, Paving and Setting with Curb of Church street, from its intersection with Dawson street southwardly, to the Borough line of the Borough of Lawrenceville.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Burgess and Town Council of the Borough of Lawrenceville, and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same, That the Street Committee, in connection with the Borough Regulator, be and they are hereby authorized and empowered to invite and receive proposals for the grading, paving and setting with curb that portion of Church street extending from the intersection of said street with Dawson street, southwardly to the borough line, and to contract therefor with the lowest and best bidder, at their discretion.

SECTION 2. That the expense of grading said street shall be paid out of the Borough treasury as provided for by existing ordinances, and for the purpose of defraying the cost and expense of paving and curbing said street, there be and there is hereby levied a special tax, to be equally assessed on the several lots bounding and abutting on said street, in proportion to the feet front thereon, and comprised and bounding and abutting as aforesaid.

SECTION 3. That so soon as the cost and expense of paving and curbing said street is fully ascertained by the Borough Regulator, it shall be his duty to assess and apportion the same among the several lot-holders owning property on said street, according to the rule herein before instanced, and thereupon to give notice thereof to the owner or owners of said lot or lots respectively, or to the agents or guardians of such owner, and make return of such assessment to the Treasurer of said Borough.

SECTION 4. That it shall be the duty of the Treasurer of said Borough, on the return so made, to cause notice to be given to the parties on whom assessments have been made as aforesaid, that unless the amounts of such assessments are paid to him in thirty days from the date of such notice, he will proceed to collect the same in the manner provided by law.

AN ORDINANCE relating to the laying of Water Pipes

SECTION 1st. Be it ordained and enacted by the Burgess and Town Council of the Borough of Lawrenceville, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That from and after the passage of this ordinance, the Lawrenceville Chrystal Water Company, of Allegheny county, State of Pennsylvania, shall have power and authority to use all public highways, streets, lanes and alleys in said borough, for the purpose of laying down, relaying and repairing the conduit pipes, main and supply pipes, and the usual and necessary devices connected therewith for supplying the Borough of Lawrenceville and the citizens thereof and the adjacent country, with water; Provided, That all damage or injury done to said highways, streets, lanes and alleys, through the exercise of the privilege hereby granted shall be repaired at the cost of said Chrystal Water Company.

SECTION 2. That the Burgess of said Borough is hereby authorized to subscribe for [illegible] shares of the capital stock of said Chrystal Water Company, in the name of the Burgess and Council of the Borough of Lawrenceville.
